Newsprint Cost Hike Is Rapped

8 Canada Firms Planning Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight major Canadian producers of newsprint have announced price increases that may add as much as $75 million a year to the costs of turning out the United States' daily newspapers.

The list of companies announcing the $10 per ton increase grew to eight Wednesday when Consolidated Paper Corp. said that it would increase its price beginning April 1. Seven other Canadian producers announced increases earlier this week.

The Abitibi Power & Paper Co., one of those announcing price increases, is the firm that supplies newsprint for The Circleville Herald.

The increase will raise the price of newsprint to newspapers east of the Rocky Mountains to $144 a ton. Western newspapers will pay $134 per ton. It was the first increase in newsprint costs in nine years.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association has criticized the increase and called it "unwarranted and unjustified." The ANPA said that the hike may boost the production costs of the nation's newspapers by as much as $75 million a year.

The group also pointed out that stable newsprint prices have been maintained since 1957 but that profits of newsprint producers have continued to climb at a record pace.

The ANPA called the new prices "completely out of line" and said that an 8 percent increase was not warranted. It said that "conditions were good enough for West Coast companies to reduce the price by $10 in 1964."

Tribunal Shuns $10 Fine Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $10 fine for crossing a yellow line on a "hazardous" stretch of state highway was the subject of an Ohio Supreme Court finding Wednesday that the penalty stands.

Houston R. Morgan went all the way to the top after previously appealing a Ravenna Municipal Court conviction in other courts.

Morgan contended in vain that "no passing" signs were required to designate a hazardous zone, but there were none on Ohio Rts. 303 and 14 in Streetsboro, Portage County, where the Ohio Highway Patrol halted him.

Surgeons Have Doubts About Saving Girl, Five

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Frail Judy Lynn Frunsch, a cheerful 5-year-old underwent heart surgery today that could give her the chance to grow up normally.

The pretty blonde who weighs only 28 pounds, was wheeled into the operating room shortly before 8 a. m.

Judy Lynn suffers from a rare obstruction of a vein that carries oxygenated blood from the lungs to the heart.

Judy, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frunsch, has been enjoying her stay in the pediatrics ward of the University of Michigan Hospital, unaware that the 10-man surgical team assigned to her case was not optimistic about her chances for surviving the operation.

Average U.S. Farm Income Hits Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that the average income of farm operators and the entire farm population reached record highs in 1965.

Farm operators were said to have earned an average of $4,280 after deducting production costs. This compared with $3,486 in 1964.

The per capita income of the farm population was reported at $1,510 compared with $1,370 in 1964. These figures include earnings on and off farms.

These income figures were in a report bearing out earlier forecasts that the 1965 net income of farmers as a whole would be $14.1 billion (b) compared with $12.9 billion in 1964. The 1965 earnings were the largest since 1952.

The 1965 income average for Ohio and neighboring states and the percentage change from 1964:

Ohio	$3,023, up 22;	Michigan	$2,843, up 7;
Indiana	$4,171, up 12;	West Virginia	$740, down 12;
Kentucky	$2,486, down 13;	Pennsylvania	$2,974, up 20.

In addition to the name of Price, he has used the aliases of William Billings and William Billingsley, Radcliff said.

Price has a police record dating back to 1955, Sheriff Radcliff said. He is presently on parole for illegal possession of narcotics.

"This will be exploratory surgery to see if help can be offered to the child," explained one of the physicians. "We may not be able to do anything for her."

As the story of Judy's plight became known around the country, message of encouragement arrived at the hospital.

A couple wired from Bogalusa, La.: "Our son had heart surgery at age 4. He's now a normal and happy boy. We had to make a similar decision. You can know that if anything happens Thursday it is God's will and you have done everything possible as parents to give Judy a normal life. Our prayers are with you and Judy."

Tax Measure Items Debated

House-Senate Panel Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration sought today to persuade Senate-House conferees to drop two Senate amendments that took a $1 - billion chunk out of a $6-billion tax bill designed to help finance the Viet Nam war.

Chances for dropping the two provisions appeared good as the conferees try to compromise Senate and House versions and meet President Johnson's March 15 deadline for final congressional action on the measure.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a reporter he had been advised the House conferees would stand firm against the two amendments.

One would provide Social Security coverage for 1.8 million persons over 70 not covered now. The other would confine reinstatement of the 10 per cent excise tax on phone calls to long-distance calls while keeping it at 3 per cent for local residential calls.

Major provisions in the bill are reimposition of taxes on phone calls and car sales that were cut Jan. 1, a graduated withholding system for collection of personal income taxes and a speedup in payment of corporation taxes.

As the bill cleared the Senate Wednesday by a 79-9 vote, it would provide a net of less than $5 billion.

The Social Security amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., adopted 45 to 40 Tuesday, would cost an estimated $750 million.

And the proposal by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., to knock out of the bill the increase in the excise on local residential telephone service would wipe out $315 million of the bill's revenue.

The President's supporters beat back 47 to 37 a proposal of Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to provide for deductions of up to $325 for annual college education expenses. It would have cost about $1 billion a year starting in 1968.

Gemini 8 Astronauts Press Tests

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 8 astronauts flight rehearsals today as their Tuesday launching date drew closer.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott and their backups will run through key phases of the countdown, launching and orbital flight. They also will practice emergency procedures in the Gemini 8 spacecraft atop a Titan 2 rocket.

The backup crew is Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr.

This so-called simulated flight exercise was expected to last until late at night.

The launch teams Wednesday successfully completed a complex simultaneous countdown involving an Atlas-Agena rocket and the Titan 2-Gemini combination. Only two minor problems developed.

The Atlas-Agena is to be launched at 10 a. m. EST Tuesday to propel the Agena into orbit as a target for Gemini 8. Armstrong, a civilian, and Scott an Air Force major, are to take off in pursuit at 11:41 a. m. and attempt to link up with the Agena.

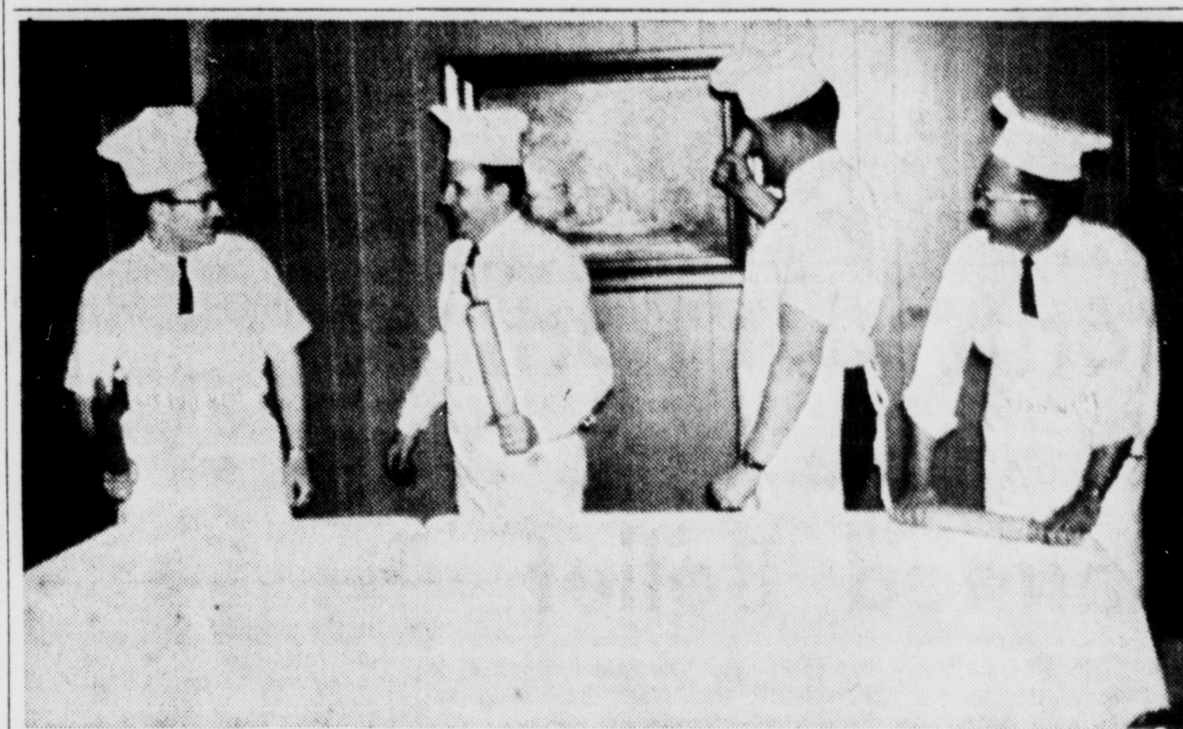

On the second day of the planned three-day flight, Scott is to take a space walk of nearly 2½ hours.

China Expert Urges Firmness

But Prof Suggests Peking Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of Harvard's East Asian Research Center proposed today that the United States continue its "firmness backed by force" in South Viet Nam while opening the door for Red China's "participation in the world scene."

"The Chinese are no more amenable to pure sweetness and light than other revolutionaries," Prof John K. Fairbank told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fairbank said that the alternative to war with Red China over Viet Nam, or elsewhere, depends on development of two lines:

1. Achieving a better balance between construction and destruction in American efforts in Viet Nam "so that the non-Communist model of nation-building can compete more effectively with the Chinese Communist model of nation-building."

2. The defusing or dampening of Peking's militancy "by getting China into greater contact with the outside world, more connected with the international scene, and more interested in participating in it like other countries."

He said China should be included in all international conferences, such as disarmament, and an international association, both professional and functional, "in international sports, not just ping-pong, and in trade with everyone, including our truzives, except for strategic goods."

New Soviet Space Effort Rumored

MOSCOW (AP) — Strong rumors swept through Moscow today of a new Soviet manned space launching.

Some Soviet sources said an official announcement was likely later in the day and advised Western newsmen to keep their radio and television sets on.

The Soviets have not put a man in space in nearly a year. Their last manned flight was on March 18, 1965, when Alexei Leonov became the first man to walk in space.

A new manned space shot has long been rumored here. It is believed likely to come before the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist Party opens March 29.

Allied Losses Are Heavy

15-20 Americans Aid in Last Stand

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — After almost two days of fierce fighting, the Special Forces camp at Ashau was lost to the Viet Cong tonight.

Lt. Col. Kenneth B. Lacey, commander of the Special Forces detachment in Da Nang, announced: "We closed Ashau at 5:45 this evening."

The colonel said a "certain number of defenders" were evacuated by helicopter before the camp was abandoned to the victorious Communist force, estimated now as a reinforced North Vietnamese regiment.

The American and Montagnard defenders suffered heavy casualties.

It was not known immediately where the few rescued survivors were taken.

Col. William McKean, commander of all Special Forces in the area, said: "We sent in a whole flock of helicopters but the ceiling closed right in on them."

A heavy cloud cover had prevented effective air support or relief since the battle started at the triangular mud and log fort near the Laotian border 60 miles northwest of Da Nang.

A force of 15 to 20 Americans and about 300 tough little Montagnard troopers occupied the lonely outpost when it was attacked in the predawn hours of Wednesday.

The defenders fought fiercely from that time until late Thursday afternoon. At one time the survivors occupied about one-fourth of the camp's bunkers while the North Vietnamese regulars held the rest.

Thursday afternoon about 100 survivors, many wounded but still fighting, mounted a last-ditch charge but were driven back.

With attack planes bombing blindly because of the cloud cover and dropping their bombs within the confines of the outpost itself, one last effort was made to bring out the survivors.

This is the first time the Viet Cong have conquered a Special Forces camp since a similar battle Aug. 19 at Dak Sut.

McKean said the decision to abandon the camp to the enemy was made after the weather had foiled all attempts to send in reinforcements.

Dad Slain in Viet

Boy, 17, Seeks Green Beret

CHICAGO (AP) — Sgt. I.C. George C. Bigley was killed in combat in Viet Nam with a green beret Special Forces unit.

Now his son, Stephen, 17, wants to join the green berets there.

But not for vengeance, Stephen says.

"I don't feel mad in any way," the youth said. "I just want to do my part. I don't want anyone to think I'm going for my dad. I'm going over for everybody."

Bigley, who won his mother's reluctant permission to enlist, has been accepted for airborne training. His prime ambition, he said Wednesday, is to earn the right to wear the green beret, the symbol of the Army Special Forces unit to which his father belonged.

"My dad always wanted me to go to West Point," Stephen said. "But I don't have it in me anymore."

"I just want to prove to dad that if I can't make West Point I can still make it somewhere else. I'm not going to be a bum."

Stephen was living with his mother in a house trailer at Fort Campbell, Ky., when word came that his father had been killed Jan. 3, 1965, in a Viet Cong attack.

The family returned to Chicago and Stephen entered a local high school.

"I didn't like it," he said. "I had too much on my mind because of dad."

So he dropped out of school and enlisted.

His father, a veteran of Army service in many parts of the world, served in the Italian campaign in World War II. He was a member of Darby's Rangers, a paratrooper and an expert marksman. He held three Purple Hearts and three Bronze Stars.

"He was good at everything," his son said.

"I'm not for it," his mother said after her son passed his qualification tests. "But if that's what he wants."

Parolee Nabbed As Suspect in Burglary Attempt

'JIG-SAW' CHECKS — Sheriff Dwight Radcliff (left) and Deputy George Linder sort through a pile of checks, shredded into small pieces, believed to total nearly $6,000, found in the possession of a man believed involved in a daring daylight robbery of a Columbus supermarket. He was arrested Wednesday by Deputy Linder at the local A & P store.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder, acting on a call from the local A & P Supermarket Wednesday, arrested a 26-year-old parolee suspected of trying to burglarize the store in broad daylight.

He was identified by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff today as John Lamar Price of Newark. He is wanted by Columbus Police for questioning concerning a daring daylight robbery of a supermarket there.

Price first entered the local supermarket at 1 p. m. yesterday. Employees noticed he suspiciously loitered around the book counter, near the main office.

He left, but returned at 4 p. m. Ann Koehner, a checkout clerk at the store, notified the sheriff's department when Price returned.

When Linder made the apprehension, she told the deputy she had seen Price coming from the office.

The sheriff confiscated $6,000 in personal checks and travelers checks. All were torn to bits.

The checks had all been stamped "for deposit only" and could not be negotiated, Radcliff said.

Columbus Police told Radcliff the checks were part of the loot taken in the daylight robbery in that city. They said $8,000 in cash also was stolen.

Police from Newark also want to talk with Price concerning a supermarket burglary in the Licking County seat.

Radcliff indicated charges will be lodged against Price in the local courts. He noted the man admitted the attempt to break into the office of the A & P store here. But he denied gaining admittance.

Price has a police record dating back to 1955. Sheriff Radcliff said. He is presently on parole for illegal possession of narcotics.

In addition to the name of Price, he has used the aliases of William Billings and William Billingsley, Radcliff said.

Among Ohio recipients were Gerald M. Kidder, North Canton; John A. Tossell, Norwalk; Calvin C. Johnson, Portsmouth; Evelyn Kay Falkenstein, Salem; Paul Aspin, Vermillion; Frank M. Turner, Wilmington, and Mark D. Levine, Wooster.

4 More Ohioans Listed As Killed in Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Ohioans were listed by the Pentagon Wednesday as killed in action in Viet Nam.

They were Army Capt. Robert M. Caliboso, husband of Mrs. Susan G. Caliboso, Dayton; Marine Lance Cpl. Philip Fitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Fitch, Cincinnati; Marine Pfc. Thomas W. Edwards, brother of Mrs. Sue Grinnell, Hamilton, and Marine Pfc. David L. Sabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sabel, Vandalia.

"My dad always wanted me to go to West Point," Stephen said. "But I don't have it in me anymore."

"I just want to prove to dad that if I can't make West Point I can still make it somewhere else. I'm not going to be a bum."

Allied Losses Are Heavy

15-20 Americans Aid in Last Stand

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — After almost two days of fierce fighting, the Special Forces camp at Ashau was lost to the Viet Cong tonight.

Lt. Col. Kenneth B. Lacey, commander of the Special Forces detachment in Da Nang, announced: "We closed Ashau at 5:45 this evening."

The colonel said a "certain number of defenders" were evacuated by helicopter before the camp was abandoned to the victorious Communist force, estimated now as a reinforced North Vietnamese regiment.

The American and Montagnard defenders suffered heavy casualties.

It was not known immediately where the few rescued survivors were taken.

Col. William McKean, commander of all Special Forces in the area, said: "We sent in a whole flock of helicopters but the ceiling closed right in on them."

A heavy cloud cover had prevented effective air support or relief since the battle started at the triangular mud and log fort near the Laotian border 69 miles northwest of Da Nang.

A force of 15 to 20 Americans and about 300 tough little Montagnard troopers occupied the lonely outpost when it was attacked in the predawn hours of Wednesday.

The defenders fought fiercely from that time until late Thursday afternoon. At one time the survivors occupied about one-fourth of the camp's bunkers while the North Vietnamese regulars held the rest.

Thursday afternoon about 100 survivors, many wounded but still fighting, mounted a last-ditch charge but were driven back.

With attack planes bombing blindly because of the cloud cover and dropping their bombs within the confines of the outpost itself, one last effort was made to bring out the survivors.

This is the first time the Viet Cong have conquered a Special Forces camp since a similar battle Aug. 19 at Dak Sut.

McKean said the decision to abandon the camp to the enemy was made after the weather had foiled all attempts to send in reinforcements.

Dad Slain in Viet

Boy, 17, Seeks Green Beret

CHICAGO (AP) — Sgt. I.C. George C. Bigley was killed in combat in Viet Nam with a green beret Special Forces unit.

Now his son, Stephen, 17, wants to join the green berets there.

But not for vengeance, Stephen says.

"I don't feel mad in any way," the youth said. "I just want to do my part. I don't want anyone to think I'm going for my dad. I'm going over for everybody."

Bigley, who won his mother's reluctant permission to enlist, has been accepted for airborne training. His prime ambition, he said Wednesday, is to earn the right to wear the green beret, the symbol of the Army Special Forces unit to which his father belonged.

"My dad always wanted me to go to West Point," Stephen said. "But I don't have it in me anymore."

"I just want to prove to dad that if I can't make West Point I can still make it somewhere else. I'm not going to be a bum."

Stephen was living with his mother in a house trailer at Fort Campbell, Ky., when word came that his father had been killed Jan. 3, 1965, in a Viet Cong attack.

The family returned to Chicago and Stephen entered a local high school.

"I didn't like it," he said. "I had too much on my mind because of dad."

So he dropped out of school and enlisted.

His father, a veteran of Army service in many parts of the world, served in the Italian campaign in World War II. He was a member of Darby's Rangers, a paratrooper and an expert marksman. He held three Purple Hearts and three Bronze Stars.

"He was good at everything," his son said.

"I'm not for it," his mother said after her son passed his qualification tests. "But if that's what he wants."

Sidewalk Fall Results in $25,000 Suit

City of Circleville
And Local Couple
Named Defendants

The City of Circleville and a local couple have been named defendants in a $25,000 personal damages lawsuit filed Wednesday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Genevieve Tate, 430 S. Pickaway St., named Mr. and Mrs. George Byrd, 606 S. Pickaway St., as defendants in the lawsuit, in addition to the city as the result of a fall on a public sidewalk.

Mrs. Tate, represented by Ashville Attorney Harry Margulis, alleges the accident occurred on the evening of July 10, 1964.

Her petition states she was walking home and as she passed in front of the Byrd residence, a dog attacked her. In attempting to flee, her suit contends she stepped into a hole in the "broken concrete" and fell.

IN THE fall, Mrs. Tate claims she suffered a fractured right arm, several broken ribs and ruptured an incision from previous surgery. She alleges the arm injury has caused partial paralysis of the arm and that doctors have advised her to undergo an operation for nerve repair.

The petition states that the City of Circleville and the Byrds failed to maintain the sidewalk and "allowed it to deteriorate." She also claims the sidewalk area had been in need of repair for "a long time."

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Michigan State University girls left today on a military plane, bound for Viet Nam and a visit to a village 60 miles from Saigon.

The girls, Judith Rice of Greenville, Mich., and Karen Radom of Birmingham, Mich., boarded a military plane at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base here to start their journey to Viet Nam.

They are to attend a dedication of a new market place in the village of Long Yen, which a group at Michigan State has "adopted."

The girls are co-chairmen of a university people-to-people association which has donated nearly $1,000 in aid to the village.

afternoon when the ceiling over the valley went up to 1,800 feet, but by the time U.S. Marine choppers got there to start evacuating the survivors the ceiling was back down to 50 feet," McKean said.

Radio and other military equipment in the part of the camp still held by the defenders was destroyed before they evacuated it, McKean said.

The Special Forces commander had high praise for the Marine aviators who attempted to bomb the enemy positions throughout the day. "But we were badly hampered by the weather. Everything was in favor of the Viet Cong," McKean said.

Some survivors were flown out by helicopter during the afternoon, McKean said. Some Americans were believed to be amongst them.

McKean said he thought the Communist death toll would be "very high." He said, "My men fought every inch of the way."

In the second day of heavy Communist assaults on the Ashau outpost, the defenders crowded into a single bunker along the northern trench line while U.S. planes tried to get through the clouds to pound the rest of the camp.

A radio report from the bunker told the pilots to "feel free to hit anything except one bunker," said Capt. Dennis B. Hague of Kellogg, Idaho, a forward air observer.

"It looks like the end," the bunker radioed at one point, but the Montagnards and their Green Beret advisers hung on in the lonely outpost near the Laotian border.

A large Air Force rescue helicopter lifted out 25 wounded Vietnamese and one American. The pilot, Capt. Frank Kelley, 44, of Boston, Mass., said he came under heavy mortar and small-arms fire during the evacuation. Some of the injured limped to the chopper by themselves.

Other Air Force and Army transports groped through thick clouds today to make blind drops of ammunition and supplies to the camp, which lies in the Ashau Valley, 60 miles northwest of the U.S. Marine and Air Force complex at Da Nang. It stands in isolation among thickly forested hills that have long cloaked a flow of Communist men and arms from the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos into the south.

At 1 a.m. today, the defenders heard the Viet Cong digging in less than 100 yards from the camp's barbed wire perimeter. "We expect a heavy attack soon," the camp radioed.

Two and a half hours later it came. "The camp is under full-scale attack," the radio said. At 4 a.m., the voice said grimly, "We have been badly cut up."

A flare ship overhead reported to Da Nang that the camp had apparently been overrun but some of the Allied force might be alive in a bunker.

Fears for the camp's survival plunged further when an American radio operator came on the air at 4:35 a.m. from a deep bunker. He said he thought he was the only man still alive in the camp.

A little later he said everything in sight "is destroyed or burning."

As his forlorn messages came in, American pilots tried to make close air strikes but the clouds hid their targets. Still they dropped their bombs in a desperation effort to halt the onslaught.

Newsprint . . .

per Co. in New York, one of the nation's largest producers of newsprint, refused to say Wednesday if they will follow the lead of the Canadian companies on the increase. Other American producers also have been silent on their plans.

Among the Canadian firms are three of the largest. They are British Columbia Forest Products, Ltd., Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd., and Anglo Canadian Pulp & Paper Mills, Ltd.

More than half of the Canadian newsprint production is now affected. Canadian companies supply 80 per cent of U. S. newsprint needs.

Crown Zellerbach Canada, Ltd., initiated the increase March 3. It was followed by Domtar, Ltd., and Consolidated Paper Corp.

Announcing the increase, Abitibi said, "Since our last increase in March of 1957, Abitibi has absorbed large increases in labor costs, transportation, power, fuel and taxes."

Abitibi said its wage rates had gone up 45 per cent since 1957.

They were waiting in a big room alongside the hearing room of Powell's House Education and Labor Committee. Powell, a New York Democrat, left John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, in the witness seat to go talk to them.

They were from Bedford-Stuyvesant and Harlem, Negro areas in Brooklyn and Manhattan, and represented two or three groups which had applied for antipoverty funds. They had been at him earlier about money they wanted from the poverty program and he had promised to come back.

"I've got good news," he cried as he entered the room. "A member of the federal government has just gotten on a plane with a check for $200,000 for the Head Start program in Bedford-Stuyvesant."

They applauded, shouted and crowded around and the ring of policemen in the room moved closer, too.

Powell, the Baptist preacher, took over from Powell, the congressman, and began a talk about the need for dignity and pride in Negroes. "Think big! Think black!" he said, and the crowd responded with claps and rhythmic shouts.

But the revival meeting atmosphere was shattered by a big woman who pushed her way up to Powell and started shouting louder than he.

"What about all these policemen? This is terrible. This is an armed camp. Everywhere we go there are policemen. We're not criminals!"

Before Powell could regain control the room erupted with the angry, urgent voices of the poor, accusing Powell of favoring jobs over community action in the poverty program.

"Jobs aren't a big deal. If industry doesn't open up jobs for a man he still doesn't have anything. We need community action. We need pressure."

They were all talking at once. Only the loudest could be heard. "Brother Powell, why don't you stress human rights instead of civil rights? We want to eat."

"What about Mississippi? They don't have clothes to send their kids to school. We got to raise clothes for them."

"You should investigate urban renewal. It's just Negro removal. We need money to fight the power structure that's trying to move us out."

"Turn us loose from the red tape!"

Powell, smiling, cajoling, promising, agreeing, arguing, stood his ground for nearly 20 minutes as the voices flailed him. Attracted by the noise, scores of people jammed the room and the corridor outside.

Powell ordered three committee staff members to go to Bedford-Stuyvesant Monday.

And then, shaking hands, patting heads and smiling, he moved off.

"Call me, anytime," he said. "Make it collect. It's your money."

Negro Solon-Preacher Trades Shouts with Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a few strides, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell moved from his lofty perch as a chairman questioning Cabinet officers about the antipoverty program to a shouting, face-to-face meeting with the poor.

Some survivors were flown out by helicopter during the afternoon, McKean said. Some Americans were believed to be among them.

McKean said he thought the Communist death toll would be "very high." He said, "My men fought every inch of the way."

In the second day of heavy Communist assaults on the Ashau outpost, the defenders crowded into a single bunker along the northern trench line while U.S. planes tried to get through the clouds to pound the rest of the camp.

A radio report from the bunker told the pilots to "feel free to hit anything except one bunker," said Capt. Dennis B. Hague of Kellogg, Idaho, a forward air observer.

"It looks like the end," the bunker radioed at one point, but the Montagnards and their Green Beret advisers hung on in the lonely outpost near the Laotian border.

A large Air Force rescue helicopter lifted out 25 wounded Vietnamese and one American. The pilot, Capt. Frank Kelley, 44, of Boston, Mass., said he came under heavy mortar and small-arms fire during the evacuation. Some of the injured limped to the chopper by themselves.

Other Air Force and Army transports groped through thick clouds today to make blind drops of ammunition and supplies to the camp, which lies in the Ashau Valley, 60 miles northwest of the U.S. Marine and Air Force complex at Da Nang. It stands in isolation among thickly forested hills that have long cloaked a flow of Communist men and arms from the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos into the south.

At 1 a.m. today, the defenders heard the Viet Cong digging in less than 100 yards from the camp's barbed wire perimeter. "We expect a heavy attack soon," the camp radioed.

Two and a half hours later it came. "The camp is under full-scale attack," the radio said. At 4 a.m., the voice said grimly, "We have been badly cut up." A flare ship overhead reported to Da Nang that the camp had apparently been overrun but some of the Allied force might be alive in a bunker.

Fears for the camp's survival plunged further when an American radio operator came on the air at 4:35 a.m. from a deep bunker. He said he thought he was the only man still alive in the camp.

A little later he said everything in sight "is destroyed or burning."

As his forlorn messages came in, American pilots tried to make close air strikes but the clouds hid their targets. Still they dropped their bombs in a desperation effort to halt the onslaught.

per Co. in New York, one of the nation's largest producers of newsprint, refused to say Wednesday if they will follow the lead of the Canadian companies on the increase. Other American producers also have been silent on their plans.

Among the Canadian firms are three of the largest. They are British Columbia Forest Products, Ltd., Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd., and Anglo Canadian Pulp & Paper Mills, Ltd.

More than half of the Canadian newsprint production is now affected. Canadian companies supply 80 per cent of U. S. newsprint needs.

Crown Zellerbach Canada, Ltd., initiated the increase March 3. It was followed by Domtar, Ltd., and Consolidated Paper Corp.

Announcing the increase, Abitibi said, "Since our last increase in March of 1965, Abitibi has absorbed large increases in labor costs, transportation, power, fuel and taxes."

Abitibi said its wage rates had gone up 45 per cent since 1967.

Trades Shouts with Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a few strides, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell moved from his lofty perch as a chairman questioning Cabinet officers about the antipoverty program to a shouting, face-to-face meeting with the poor.

They were waiting in a big room alongside the hearing room of Powell's House Education and Labor Committee. Powell, a New York Democrat, left John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, in the witness seat to go talk to them.

They were from Bedford-Stuyvesant and Harlem, Negro areas in Brooklyn and Manhattan, and represented two or three groups which had applied for antipoverty funds. They had been at him earlier about money they wanted from the poverty program and he had promised to come back.

"I've got good news," he cried as he entered the room. "A member of the federal government has just gotten on a plane with a check for $200,000 for the Head Start program in Bedford-Stuyvesant."

They applauded, shouted and crowded around and the ring of policemen in the room moved closer, too.

Powell, the Baptist preacher, took over from Powell, the congressman, and began a talk about the need for dignity and pride in Negroes. "Think big! Think black!" he said, and the crowd responded with claps and rhythmic shouts.

But the revival meeting atmosphere was shattered by a big woman who pushed her way up to Powell and started shouting louder than he.

"What about all these policemen? This is terrible. This is an armed camp. Everywhere we go there are policemen. We're not criminals!"

Before Powell could regain control the room erupted with the angry, urgent voices of the poor, accusing Powell of favoring jobs over community action in the poverty program.

"Jobs aren't a big deal. If industry doesn't open up jobs for a man he still doesn't have anything. We need community action. We need pressure."

They were all talking at once. Only the loudest could be heard. "Brother Powell, why don't you stress human rights instead of civil rights? We want to eat."

"What about Mississippi? They don't have schools to send their kids to school. We got to raise clothes for them."

"You should investigate urban renewal. It's just Negro removal. We need money to fight the power structure that's trying to move us out."

"Turn us loose from the red tape!"

Powell, smiling, cajoling, promising, agreeing, arguing, stood his ground for nearly 20 minutes as the voices flailed him. Attracted by the noise, scores of people jammed the room and the corridor outside.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, March 10, the 69th day of 1966. There are 296 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1933, earthquakes in Southern California killed 120 persons and caused 50 million dollars in damage.

On this date

In 1864, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant was made commander in chief of the Union armies.

In 1945, U.S. Superfortresses dumped 1,000 tons of fire bombs on Tokyo.

Ten years ago — A special Senate committee to investigate lobbying and campaign contributions elected Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., its chairman.

Five years ago — A fire in a coal mine in Fukuoka, Japan, killed 71 miners.

One year ago — A communique was issued in Moscow, at the end of a Communist party meeting, called for an end to bitterness between Moscow and Peking.

'Quiet Revolution' Talked in 'New Quebec'

QUEBEC (AP) — In French Canada today talk of secession or separation is little more than a whisper, but the visitor hears much about the "quiet revolution" and the "new Quebec."

Significant changes have taken place both inside the sprawling populous province and in its relations with the federal government.

Quebec's premier, Jean Lesage, 53, seeks to expand the role of his province and to improve the lot of the country's five million French-speaking citizens.

He has been careful not to go too far, too fast.

No one knows where it will end. Even Lesage declines to fix deadlines. So far Canada's 99-year-old confederation has proved flexible enough to adjust to Quebec's expanding autonomy.

One result of Lesage's moderate approach has been to steal much of the thunder of the separatists — those who want Quebec to be a separate nation.

The movement still has a substantial hard core, but it is not the noisy, aggressive group that launched terroristic bombings and marred the visit of Queen Elizabeth II by demonstrations 18 months ago.

The leadership of the separatists is split by personal bickerings and by rivalries between Montreal and Quebec factions. Where they once cried for action, they now urge patience. But they haven't given up their goal of an independent Quebec.

Lesage opposes the separatists and he seems to have an overwhelming majority of the province behind him.

With a provincial election expected in May or June, political experts are predicting that Lesage's Liberal party will be returned with as many as 70 of the

MU Student Sings With Choral Group

The Choraliers, a 71-voice Miami University women's chorus, will sing 11 programs in five days beginning Mar. 18, in a tour which includes Cincinnati, Lebanon and Washington C. H.

Brenda Sue List, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Route 1, sings second soprano in the choral group. She is a freshman at the university.

An assembly program at Washington C. H. High School at 12:30 p. m. will be followed by a 7:30 p. m. concert on Mar. 21 in Grace Methodist Church and a program at 9:15 a. m. on Mar. 22, in Miami Trace High School.

Programs are built on a variety of sacred music, love songs, folk songs and Broadway hits.

95 legislative seats.

Lesage came to power in 1960 with a narrow majority, eight seats. He had vowed to give the province a dynamic new program after 16 years under the National Union party of Maurice Duplessis. In 1962 he won the mandate he wanted when he won 64 seats to 28 for the National Union, headed by Daniel Johnson.

Lesage likes to use the word "revolution" to describe what has been happening in Quebec during the past six years. Sometimes he calls it a quiet revolution, sometimes a fast revolution.

"We are building a new society," he says.

Economic production has grown during his administration and Quebec is rapidly developing new industries and trade. More than 2,800 new businesses have been established in five years. This is one part of Canada where U.S. capital is eagerly sought.

Few quarrel with these achievements. Other elements in Lesage's program have caused unhappiness in Ottawa or provoked anxiety in the English-speaking community. One development which some considered an encroachment on federal jurisdiction was the establishment of Quebec "diplomatic" missions in Paris, London and New York. The three bureaus, working independently of the federal government's missions in the same countries, push Quebec's cultural and economic interests.

Quebec has its own agreement with France for an exchange of students, teachers and researchers.

Even more irritating to English Canada is a practice under which the federal government permits the provinces to "opt out" of certain joint federal-provincial programs. All provinces have this privilege of not taking part in joint programs, but it was initiated mainly to satisfy Quebec's demands for more autonomy.

Twelve federal-provincial programs permit opting out. Quebec stays out of eight. This means it administers such programs as hospitalization, old-age assistance and health grants. Federal grants pay part of the costs.

"We want to grow in a manner which suits us," Lesage says. "We refuse to accept that ways of thinking and living be imposed upon us. We object to courses of action which do not take our own priority needs into account."

Easter Date

Much of the Western World is now celebrating Lent in anticipation of Easter Sunday, April 10.

The First Council of Nicaea in 325 A. D. considered that Jesus Christ had been crucified on a Sunday, and though the date has never been established, that Easter should be the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

This complicated formula to set the date of such an important religious holiday is coming into disfavor. In October, 1963, the Vatican Council voted

(2,058-9) in favor of a fixed Easter and there has been a law on the British books enabling the government to set the date by order-in-council, since 1928. To both there is a proviso "... that regard shall be had to any opinion officially expressed by any other church or any Christian body."

This means the Christian churches would have to agree on the principle and then on a fixed date. The first Sunday in April has been most often proposed as a permanent Easter Day.

McNamara Impressed

By John Chamberlain

Secretary of Defense McNamara, after a lifetime spent on organizational matters, industrial blueprints and the care and feeding of computers, has suddenly discovered that men are moved by doctrines. Specifically, he has been impressed by the recent pronouncement by Lin Piao, the Red Chinese Minister of Defense, that the way to defeat the industrialized West is to sneak up on it by guerrilla penetration and conquest of the tropics and sub-tropics of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Well, it's good that the Secretary of Defense has finally managed to rise above the computations of his Whiz Kids and actually look into political theory. After all, it is ideas that change the world, as we should all know by now. Hitler's "Mein Kampf" existed as a compulsive literary document long before the Nazis had managed to create an air force, and Lin Piao's doctrine is already old in modern Chinese history, since it was stated long ago by Mao Tse tung as the "Yenan way." This "way" was chosen by the Chinese Communists in the Nineteen Twenties when they undertook their long march from the coast to the wilderness of Yanan, there to wait their chances to encircle the cities of Nanking, Peking, and Shanghai.

Secretary McNamara, however, has discovered only one-half of the story, and if he fails to complete his intellectual education he will be vulnerable to those who scoff at the ability of impoverished Red China to pull off a guerrilla encirclement of the West. What he should realize is that the Lin Piao-Mao Tse-tung "Yenan way" doctrine is an adaptation of Lenin's own way of thinking about the uses of the colonial world to wreck western Europe and the United States.

The fact is that the Communists are not relying on the strength of China to turn the Lin Piao theory into hard reality, Moscow has every intention of carrying out the theory on behalf of the older Leninism if the Red Chinese prove impotent to do it.

With his eye on Red China, and his ears attuned to the threats of Lin Piao, McNamara has forgotten a man named Fidel Castro. Time was when Fidel's bosom companion in guerrilla revolution, "Che" Guevara, was impressed by the "Yenan way." Che Guevara made a long pilgrimage through Africa and Asia, talking up Lin Piao's theory and praising Mao Tse-tung. This would have been all right with Castro if Red China had not begun to run into its prolonged streak of bad luck in trying to propagandize the "Yenan way." Instead of folding its tents in South Vietnam, the U. S. chose to pour in 200,000 troops and fight.

Ben Bella, who had been preparing to welcome the Red Chinese and their adherents at a big subversive shindig in Algeria, was deported. And in country after country in Africa Red Chinese infiltrators were rounded up and thrown out.

Fidel Castro, with his finger to the wind, promptly decided that the colonial encirclement of the capitalist world depended entirely on cooperation with the Moscow Communists; and Che Guevara has since disappeared.

The recent tricontinental conference of subversives in Havana affirmed that the colonial encirclement doctrine was Lenin's before it was Mao Tse-tung's, as indeed it was. Yet American foreign policy does not worry—very much about Cuba, which is Moscow's point of departure for carrying out the guerrilla conquest of the tropics.

Spruille Braden, formerly a U. S. Ambassador with long experience in Latin America, recently said that Moscow still maintains a missile base in Cuba. And Castro's dreams of becoming a Marxist-Leninist Bolivar from modern Latin America are just as vivid as ever.

The majority opinion in Washington is that the steam has gone out of the earlier Leninist version of the Lin Piao colonial encirclement doctrine. But the Russians have great military strength where the Red Chinese have only weakness, so why should they have to be blatant about their propaganda? The encirclement of the west via the subversion of the colonial world may be all the more deadly when promoted by the quieter Russians. So let us hope that Secretary McNamara completes his political education by looking into the Leninist origins of the Lin Piao doctrine that has so impressed him.

WHEN FORD MADDOX FORD, sometime collaborator of Joseph Conrad, edited the scholarly English Review, he discovered so many "geniuses" that he drove the owners to the verge of bankruptcy. One day he burst into an editorial conclave waving a manuscript wildly. "Lord preserve us," grumbled the business manager, "Ford's got hold of another genius." "This time," exulted Ford, "it's a real one, gentlemen." And this time he was right, too. The manuscript was the first submitted by D. H. Lawrence.

Easter Date

Much of the Western World is now celebrating Lent in anticipation of Easter Sunday, April 10.

The First Council of Nicaea in 325 A. D. considered that Jesus Christ had been crucified on a Sunday, and though the date has never been established, that Easter should be the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

This complicated formula to set the date of such an important religious holiday is coming into disfavor. In October, 1963, the Vatican Council voted

(2,058-9) in favor of a fixed Easter and there has been a law on the British books enabling the government to set the date by order-in-council, since 1928. To both there is a proviso "... that regard shall be had to any opinion officially expressed by any other church or any Christian body."

This means the Christian churches would have to agree on the principle and then on a fixed date. The first Sunday in April has been most often proposed as a permanent Easter Day.

McNamara Impressed

By John Chamberlain

Secretary of Defense McNamara, after a lifetime spent on organizational matters, industrial blueprints and the care and feeding of computers, has suddenly discovered that men are moved by doctrines. Specifically, he has been impressed by the recent pronouncement by Lin Piao, the Red Chinese Minister of Defense, that the way to defeat the industrialized West is to sneak up on it by guerrilla penetration and conquest of the tropics and sub-tropics of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Well, it's good that the Secretary of Defense has finally managed to rise above the computations of his Whiz Kids and actually look into political theory. After all, it is ideas that change the world, as we should all know by now. Hitler's "Mein Kampf" existed as a compulsive literary document long before the Nazis had managed to create an air force, and Lin Piao's doctrine is already old in modern Chinese history, since it was stated long ago by Mao Tse tung as the "Yenan way." This "way" was chosen by the Chinese Communists in the Nineteen Twenties when they undertook their long march from the coast to the wilderness of Yanan, there to wait their chances to encircle the cities of Nanking, Peking, and Shanghai.

Secretary McNamara, however, has discovered only one-half of the story, and if he fails to complete his intellectual education he will be vulnerable to those who scoff at the ability of impoverished Red China to pull off a guerrilla encirclement of the West. What he should realize is that the Lin Piao-Mao Tse-tung "Yenan way" doctrine is an adaptation of Lenin's own way of thinking about the uses of the colonial world to wreck western Europe and the United States.

The fact is that the Communists are not relying on the strength of China to turn the Lin Piao theory into hard reality. Moscow has every intention of carrying out the theory on behalf of the older Leninism if the Red Chinese prove impotent to do it.

With his eye on Red China, and his ears attuned to the threats of Lin Piao, McNamara has forgotten a man named Fidel Castro. Time was when Fidel's bosom companion in guerrilla revolution, "Che" Guevara, was impressed by the "Yenan way." Che Guevara made a long pilgrimage through Africa and Asia, talking up Lin Piao's theory and praising Mao Tse-tung. This would have been all right with Castro if Red China had not begun to run into its prolonged streak of bad luck in trying to propagandize the "Yenan way." Instead of folding its tents in South Vietnam, the U. S. chose to pour in 200,000 troops and fight.

Ben Bella, who had been preparing to welcome the Red Chinese and their adherents at a big subversive shindig in Algeria, was deposed. And in country after country in Africa Red Chinese infiltrators were rounded up and thrown out.

Fidel Castro, with his finger to the wind, promptly decided that the colonial encirclement of the capitalist world depended entirely on cooperation with the Moscow Communists; and Che Guevara has since disappeared. The recent tricontinental conference of subversives in Havana affirmed that the colonial encirclement doctrine was Lenin's before it was Mao Tse-tung's, as indeed it was. Yet American foreign policy does not worry—very much about Cuba, which is Moscow's point of departure for carrying out the guerrilla conquest of the tropics.

Spruille Braden, formerly a U. S. Ambassador with long experience in Latin America, recently said that Moscow still maintains a missile base in Cuba. And Castro's dreams of becoming a Marxist-Leninist Bolivar from modern Latin America are just as vivid as ever. The majority opinion in Washington is that the steam has gone out of the earlier Leninist version of the Lin Piao colonial encirclement doctrine. But the Russians have great military strength where the Red Chinese have only weakness, so why should they have to be blatant about their propaganda? The encirclement of the west via the subversion of the colonial world may be all the more deadly when promoted by the quieter Russians. So let us hope that Secretary McNamara completes his political education by looking into the Leninist origins of the Lin Piao doctrine that has so impressed him.

Can a lie detector machine be used to diagnose a medical disorder? How does it work?

F. F., Oregon
Dear Mr. F.: The lie detector machine is called a polygraph. It's use is based on the scientific fact that the emotions can affect the physical functions of the body.

Have you ever noticed what happens when you're placed in a difficult or embarrassing situation?

You may begin to perspire more freely.

You may blush and become nervous. At that moment a polygraph were attached to your body your pulse rate, heart beat, respiration and blood pressure would be noted as being more rapid.

The polygraph has had its greatest use in criminology. Yet, the lie detector is not infallible as an indication of guilt or innocence.

The machine records on graph paper the fluctuations during moments of stress. These graphs are "read" by the machine operators who are highly skilled in human psychology.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN FORD MADDOX FORD, sometime collaborator of Joseph Conrad, edited the scholarly English Review, he discovered so many "geniuses" that he drove the owners to the verge of bankruptcy. One day he burst into an editorial conclave waving a manuscript wildly. "Lord preserve us," grumbled the business manager. "Ford's got hold of another genius." "This time," exclaimed Ford, "it's a real one, gentlemen." And this time he was right, too. The manuscript was the first submitted by D. H. Lawrence.

American Doctors Face Crisis

U.S. Medicine To Play Major Role In Nation's 'War on Poverty'

EDITOR'S NOTE — U.S. medicine will have an exacting role to perform in the "war on poverty." Vast needs are seen among the millions of poor and old in big city slums and many rural areas. This is the fourth of five articles on American medicine today.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "It's simply shocking," said a pediatrician in a large Eastern city. "You wonder if some way can't be found to give these kids a better medical break."

"These kids" were 1,442 youngsters, mostly from poor families, enrolled in a Head Start program to prepare them better for entering school.

One-third of them, medical examiners found, had some major medical defect, or emotional problem — or both.

That is one measure of the health needs, mostly unmet, among millions of poor people in big cities and many rural areas, needs unmet despite hospital clinics and physicians' donated time.

Various reasons are suggested for the neglect:

That people don't know facilities exist, that there aren't enough facilities, that some people can't find baby-sitters or take time from their jobs, that clinics and services are too fragmented and patients are shunted from place to place, that many have no medical or hospital insurance systems. The charge is even made that "many poor people just don't care."

But when, and if, the sluice gates open to meet their needs, the nation's medical system will be challenged more than ever.

Medicare will bring part of this new testing, since many elderly persons living on limited incomes will be offered hospitalization under Social Security payments. They may also sign up, at low fees, for medical services.

Looking to July 1, when Medicare begins, hospitals in some cities expect a heavy demand for beds and services. Others anticipate only a slight increase, mainly because many beds already are occupied by patients over 65.

More demand for medical services will come.

For Title I of the medicare law calls upon states vastly to expand their programs of health care for all the needy and medically needy in each state, by July 1975, if they are to continue receiving federal money.

Poor health is one root, one anchor, in a vicious cycle of poverty—without, intervention the poor gets sicker and the sick get poorer," says Dr. H. Jack Geiger of Tufts University Medical School in Boston.

He and Dr. Count D. Gibson Jr., professor of preventive medicine at Tufts, are originators of a novel approach to improve the health of the poor—a program containing seeds for increasing health manpower jobs among the poor themselves.

Sponsored by the medical school, with an initial grant of $1,168,000 in poverty program funds, the program is setting up two community health centers, one in Boston, another to come in a rural Southern area.

The Boston center, at the Columbia Point housing development, is operating. In its first four weeks, 600 children and adults in the housing development came for diagnosis and treatment.

Tufts supplies the small staff of physicians on duty at the health center. The doctors may refer some patients to city hospitals or to specialists, as needed.

This health program is one pilot attempt—aided by a computerized system of keeping records—to determine the real need for health services, what they cost in time, services and money to meet them, Dr. Geiger explains. It may point the way to similar centers in other areas.

There are 6,000 families in the housing project, and one-third of them enrolled in a voluntary health association which helped plan the health center itself. But anyone in the housing project can utilize the health center. No one is charged for visits. Prevention of illness is emphasized.

The association members decided that families should pay $3 a year in membership dues, partly to help equip the center.

"We asked why $3 was decided upon and someone said, 'Because that's the cost of just one taxi-ride in the middle of the night to a hospital emergency room that we won't have to make when a health center is right here.'"

Whatever the outcome of this particular program, the future promises many other changes in medicine.

Next: the promise.

American Doctors Face Crisis

U.S. Medicine To Play Major Role In Nation's 'War on Poverty'

EDITOR'S NOTE — U.S. medicine will have an exacting role to perform in the "war on poverty." Vast needs are seen among the millions of poor and old in big city slums and many rural areas. This is the fourth of five articles on American medicine today.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "It's simply shocking," said a pedi-

atrician in a large Eastern city. "You wonder if some way can't be found to give these kids a better medical break."

"These kids" were 1,442 youngsters, mostly from poor families, enrolled in a Head Start program to prepare them better for entering school.

One-third of them, medical examiners found, had some major medical defect, or emotional problem — or both.

That is one measure of the health needs, mostly unmet, among millions of poor people in big cities and many rural areas, needs unmet despite hospital clinics and physicians' donated time. Various reasons are suggested for the neglect: That people don't know facilities exist, that there aren't enough facilities, that some people can't find baby-sitters or take time from their jobs, that clinics and services are too fragmented and patients are shunted from place to place, that many have no medical or hospital insurance systems. The charge is even made that "many poor people just don't care."

But when, and if, the sluice gates open to meet their needs, the nation's medical system will be challenged more than ever.

Medicare will bring part of this new testing, since many elderly persons living on limited incomes will be offered hospitalization under Social Security payments. They may also sign up, at low fees, for medical services.

Looking to July 1, when medicare begins, hospitals in some cities expect a heavy demand for beds and services. Others anticipate only a slight increase, mainly because many beds already are occupied by patients over 65.

More demand for medical services will come. For Title I of the medicare law calls upon states vastly to expand their programs of health care for all the needy and medically needy in each state, by July 1975, if they are to continue receiving federal money.

Poor health is one root, one anchor, in a vicious cycle of poverty—"without, intervention the poor gets sicker and the sick get poorer," says Dr. H. Jack Geiger of Tufts University Medical School in Boston.

He and Dr. Count D. Gibson Jr., professor of preventive medicine at Tufts, are originators of a novel approach to improve the health of the poor—a program containing seeds for increasing health manpower jobs among the poor themselves.

Sponsored by the medical school, with an initial grant of $1,168,000 in poverty program funds, the program is setting up two community health centers, one in Boston, another to come in a rural Southern area.

The Boston center, at the Columbia Point housing development, is operating. In its first four weeks, 600 children and adults in the housing development came for diagnosis and treatment.

Tufts supplies the small staff of physicians on duty at the health center. The doctors may refer some patients to city hospitals or to specialists, as needed.

This health program is one pilot attempt—aided by a computerized system of keeping records—to determine the real need for health services, what they cost in time, services and money to meet them. Dr. Geiger explains. It may point the way to similar centers in other areas.

There are 6,000 families in the housing project, and one-third of them enrolled in a voluntary health association which helped plan the health center itself. But anyone in the housing project can utilize the health center. No one is charged for visits. Prevention of illness is emphasized.

The association members decided that families should pay $3 a year in membership dues, partly to help equip the center.

"We asked why $3 was decided upon and someone said, 'Because that's the cost of just one taxi-ride in the middle of the night to a hospital emergency room that we won't have to make when a health center is right here.'"

Whatever the outcome of this particular program, the future promises many other changes in medicine.

Next: the promise.

Pre-Schoolers Style Show Highlights Club Meeting

A style show by pre-schoolers was presented at the Salt-creek Town and Country Club meeting under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Jones. The group met in the home of Mrs. Philip Everett, president.

Kyle Jones, Kevelin Maxson, Stephanie Jones, Ronnie Maxson and Meg Everett were models.

Mrs. Everett read an anniversary invitation from Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe. Members were reminded that Legis-lation Day will be Mar. 24 in Westerville and the State Con-vention will be held April 12, 13, 14 in Cleveland.

Mrs. Francis Fraunfelder was appointed scholarship chair-man.

The nominating committee presented the following officers: Mrs. Robert Jones, presi-dent; Mrs. Carl Justice, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Hoff-man, secretary; Mrs. Charles Jones, treasurer.

Members will have a bake sale Mar. 26 in Jones' Hardware, Tarlton. The next meeting will be April 12 at Pick-away Arms.

Guests were Mrs. Robert Sweptson, Mrs. George Seimer,

Twelve members of the Mon-rovia Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Neff. Mrs. Lewis Seymour was a guest.

Mrs. Loring Stoer, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Francis Furniss gave devotions using as her theme, "Nature". She read Scripture followed by prayer. Roll call was answered by members discussing their worst garden pest. Mrs. Her-man Porter, secretary, and Mrs. Neff, treasurer, reported.

Mrs. Charles Fleming reported on the work with the Future Homemakers Club at the West-fall School and showed contain-ers she had purchased for use at the school. An invitation was read to attend the "April Whims" show in Columbus. A letter of regret was read from the guest speaker who was un-able to attend.

Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Herman Porter will appear on radio Mar. 11. Mrs. Allen Pol-lard reported on the therapy committee and stated that the date of the Childrens Home pic-nic had been changed to June 18 instead June 25 as previously announced. Mrs. Michel gave a report on the Sphinx Moth and showed pictures from the Na-tional Geographic Magazine.

Mrs. Stoer reported that the trash can had been placed at the Five Points Methodist church, courtesy of Monrovia Club, as one of the club's pro-jects.

Mrs. Neff served refresh-ments assisted by Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mrs. Guy Den-nis.

The April meeting will be an open meeting, to be held in the Five Points Methodist Church basement 8 p. m., April 4, with neighboring clubs in-cluded. Mrs. Roderic O'Conner, Yellow Springs, will be guest speaker and her topic will be "Organic Gardening."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Husband Working for Merit Badge

DEAR ABBY: Get this pic-ture. My husband and I were walking out of a supermarket. I had one large sack which I know weighed 22 pounds be-cause I weighed it on our bath-room scale when I got home. He was carrying a 20 pound sack of flour and a 10 pound sack of sugar.

Then he saw this nice looking woman walking out just ahead of us. She was carrying only one large sack. My husband handed ME his 30 pounds, rushed up to take the sack from this stranger's hands, and then he carried it to her station wagon.

I would like for you to explain exactly what you think of his actions. My husband claims he can't see where he did anything wrong.

BOILING MAD
DEAR BOILING: Either your husband is still working for a merit badge or he is hun-gering for a kind word from a strange woman.

DEAR ABBY: "LOVE-STARVED" has my sympathy. He's the man whose wife won't let him kiss her because she's afraid he might mess her hair-do or smear her make-up.

I have been married for nearly four years, and I have never seen my wife with curlers in her hair or goo all over her face. She says, "I can do all the construction work during the day time. I don't care if the mailman, milkman or deliv-ery boys see me looking like a spook. But when my man comes home, I like to be as fresh and pretty as I can be."

When a recipe calls for a "dash" of a seasoning, add less than 1-8 teaspoon.

LUCKY LENNY
DEAR LUCKY: Cover her up. She might get pneumonia.

DEAR ABBY: Please say something about wives who wear their husband's secretaries out with their constant phoning to remind him of some-thing they forgot to tell him be-fore he left the house. A busy executive relies on his secre-tary to take most of these mes-sages. Mine are like this:

"Tell Mr. Jones not to for-get to pay the dentist's bill."

"Tell Mr. Jones the brakes on my car need adjusting."

Tell Mr. Jones not to get tied up next Wednesday night. It's his daughter's pi-ano recital night."

Some wives insist on talking to their husbands. If I say, "Mr. Jones is talking on another line," she asks, "WHO is he talking to?" If I say, "Mr.

Jones has stepped out," she asks, "Where did he go and when do you think he'll be back?" Then she demands that I have him call her the minute he returns, as it is an emer-gency.

So when I try to call her back, her line is busy for an hour! A secretary has enough to do without all those interrup-tions and time-consuming chores. Abby, you have my permission to change this let-ter around any way you wish, just do us secretaries a favor and get this message across!

BUSY BUT BOTHERED
DEAR B.B.B.: You've said it so well, I wouldn't dare to change a word. When a wom-an's feet hurt, no one else can describe her pain with quite so much feeling.

Kyle Jones, Kevelin Maxson, Stephanie Jones, Ronnie Maxson and Meg Everett were models.

Mrs. Everett read an anniversary invitation from Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe. Members were reminded that Legislation Day will be Mar. 24 in Westerville and the State Convention will be held April 12, 13, 14 in Cleveland.

Mrs. Francis Fraunfelter was appointed scholarship chairman.

The nominating committee presented the following officers: Mrs. Robert Jones, president; Mrs. Carl Justice, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Hoffman, secretary; Mrs. Charles Jones, treasurer.

Members will have a bake sale Mar. 26 in Jones' Hardware, Tilton. The next meeting will be April 12 at Pick-away Arms.

Guests were Mrs. Robert Swepston, Mrs. George Seimer,

Mrs. Neff

Monrovia GC

Twelve members of the Monrovia Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Neff. Mrs. Lewis Seymour was a guest.

Mrs. Loring Storr, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Francis Furniss gave devotions using as her theme, "Nature". She read Scripture followed by prayer. Roll call was answered by members discussing their worst garden pest. Mrs. Herman Porter, secretary, and Mrs. Neff, treasurer, reported.

Mrs. Charles Fleming reported on the work with the Future Homemakers Club at the West-fall School and showed containers she had purchased for use at the school. An invitation was read to attend the "April Whims" show in Columbus. A letter of regret was read from the guest speaker who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Herman Porter will appear on radio Mar. 11. Mrs. Allen Fol-lard reported on the therapy committee and stated that the date of the Childrens Home picnic had been changed to June 18 instead June 25 as previously announced. Mrs. Michel gave a report on the Sphinx Moth and showed pictures from the National Geographic Magazine.

Mrs. Storr reported that the trash can had been placed at the Five Points Methodist church, courtesy of Monrovia Club, as one of the club's projects.

Mrs. Neff served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mrs. Guy Dennis.

The April meeting will be an open meeting, to be held in the Five Points Methodist Church basement 8 p. m., April 4, with neighboring clubs invited. Mrs. Roderic O'Conner, Yellow Springs, will be guest speaker and her topic will be "Organic Gardening."

22 Attend Five Points WSCS Meet

Mrs. Turney Sheets was hostess when 22 members and guests of the Five Point Methodist WSCS met recently.

Mrs. Herman Porter, president opened the meeting with a reading, "The Things Money Can't Buy" followed by prayer by Mrs. Gene Winans. Mrs. Arthur Winfough, secretary, reported. Mrs. Francis Furniss, treasurer, gave the financial report and plans were completed for the banquet for the Men's Community Club.

Donations were received for the fish supper which will be held in the church basement Wednesday evening. It was announced that the group will serve a stock sale dinner April 6 at the Bowling Stockyard in Circleville.

At the close of the business session Mrs. Austin Fuller, chairman for the program, "The Inclusive Church," opened with a reading. Mrs. Gene L. Winans read Scripture and Mrs. Francis Furniss read from the study book. Mrs. Winans closed the meeting with a prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sheets assisted by Mrs. Herman Porter and Mr. E. L. Sheets.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Husband Working for Merit Badge

DEAR ABBY: Get this picture. My husband and I were walking out of a supermarket. I had one large sack which I know weighed 22 pounds because I weighed it on our bathroom scale when I got home. He was carrying a 20 pound sack of flour and a 10 pound sack of sugar.

Then he saw this nice looking woman walking out just ahead of us. She was carrying only one large sack. My husband handed ME his 30 pounds, rushed up to take the sack from this stranger's hands, and then he carried it to her station wagon.

I would like for you to explain exactly what you think of his actions. My husband claims he can't see where he did anything wrong.

BOILING MAD

DEAR BOILING: Either your husband is still working for a merit badge or he is hungering for a kind word from a strange woman.

DEAR ABBY: "LOVE-STARVED" has my sympathy. He's the man whose wife won't let him kiss her because she's afraid he might mess her hair-do or smear her make-up.

I have been married for nearly four years, and I have never seen my wife with curlers in her hair or goo all over her face. She says, "I can do all the construction work during taries out with their constant phoning to remind him of something they forgot to tell him before he left the house. A busy executive relies on his secretary to take most of these messages. Mine are like this:

When a recipe calls for a "dash" of a seasoning, add less than 1-8 teaspoon.

"Tell Mr. Jones not to forget to pay the dentist's bill."

"Tell Mr. Jones the brakes on my car need adjusting."

Tell Mr. Jones not to get tied up next Wednesday night. It's his daughter's piano recital night."

Some wives insist on talking to their husbands. If I say, "Mr. Jones is talking on another line," she asks, "WHO is he talking to?" If I say, "Mr.

Jones has stepped out," she asks, "Where did he go and when do you think he'll be back?" Then she demands that I have him call her the minute he returns, as it is an emergency.

So when I try to call her back, her line is busy for an hour! A secretary has enough to do without all those interruptions and time-consuming chores. Abby, you have my permission to change this letter around any way you wish, just do us secretaries a favor and get this message across!

BUSY BUT BOTHERED
DEAR B.B.B.: You've said it so well, I wouldn't dare to change a word. When a woman's feet hurt, no one else can describe her pain with quite so much feeling.

Laurelville News

By Mrs. Ray Poling

Mrs. Hazel McNeal was last week guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Carnes and sons of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kerns of Marietta Pike, Mr. Roy Canter and family and Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal and daughter Diana all of Kingston.

Miss Betty Ippolito and friend of Columbus were Saturday guests of her mother, Mrs. Hazel McNeal.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Kokomo, Ind., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Norton. The Millers' son, Jeff, returned home with them after spending a week with his grandparents.

Mrs. Annabell Jones returned home Saturday from Berger Hospital where she underwent major surgery.

A shower was given for Miss Susan Mettler, bride-elect by Mrs. Robert West and daughter Carol, Mrs. Dan DeLong and daughter Sharon and Mrs. Don Kempton and daughter Pam, Sunday at Pickaway Arms in Circleville. There were contests played and she received many lovely gifts. Refreshments were served to 37 guests.

Hostesses for a 25th anniversary tea Thursday evening at the church for the Womens Society of Christian Service were Mrs. Wilson Ross; Mrs. Paul Armstrong, Mrs. Raymond Hedges and Miss Goldie Byers. Invited guests were from Hallsville, Adelphi and Haynes WSCS.

Mrs. George Bowers and Mrs. Thomas Hockman pinned flowers on guests' dresses. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Mervin McClelland with a welcome to all. Then all sang "Stand up for Jesus." Mrs. Don Kempton played a piano solo.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Mildred Armstrong, reading the 14th chapter of St. Luke. Mrs. McClelland gave a white carnation to each charter member and past president.

Miss Margaret Chilcote was in charge of the program. She gave a talk on the 25th anniversary of the Woman Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Robert Bowers gave a review on events from 1940 to 1965.

Miss Chilcote closed by talking about the three goals for the WSCS. Mrs. Arthur Hinton and Mrs. Raymond Maxson sang a duet.

All were invited to the basement for the tea. A beautiful cake decorated the table and a individual cake for each past president. Cake ice cream balls, nuts, coffee and tea was served to 50 guests.

Miss Carmen White, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frank White, was released from Chillicothe Hospital Tuesday. She had been confined five weeks with a broken leg.

Youth Rally Held at Local Church

The Eastern Section Youth Rally of the Church of the Brethren was held Sunday at the Circleville Church of the Brethren, corner of Logan and S. Pickaway Sts.

Four churches of the section, were represented by 30 persons who were present.

After attending Sunday School and Church, the group participated in a dinner and recreation.

The theme for the day was "Brotherhood." The afternoon program was highlighted by three speakers who discussed different phases of honesty.

Miss Chloe Ann Cupp, Circleville, a former Brethren Volunteer Service worker whose project was working with the migrants in Texas, spoke on what honesty meant in this area.

Lester Baum, wrestling coach of Muskingum College, discussed honesty in athletics. He said that the golden rule should also be applied to sports.

The Rev. Herman Rinky, is a pastor, social worker and director of the Ashland County Welfare Department. He spoke on honesty in this field. He stressed that one should be intellectually honest with himself while determining his life career and philosophy.

Group singing and devotions were conducted.

The six churches of the Eastern section are, Circleville, White Cottage, Columbus, Olivet, Columbus Co-operative and Charleston.

Movie Scheduled At Nicholas Drive

The Nicholas Drive Parent Teacher Assn. is sponsoring a movie Saturday.

The film is "Cinderella," starring Jerry Lewis and Ed Wynn. The first showing is scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. and the second at 3 p. m.

Cincinnati Hospital Used As 'Political Pawn,' Claim

CINCINNATI (AP) — Long-view Hospital, the state's largest institution for the mentally ill, is being used as a political pawn, the superintendent, Dr. John T. Toppen, charged Wednesday.

"At least until May (when the primary election is over) every incident is likely to be a cause for criticism," he said. "The hospital is being used as a pawn."

"I am trying to run the hospital and stay out of any political facets of this as much as I can," he added. "I have no wish to be involved in any of that."

Dr. Toppen made his remarks in explaining the dismissals of five physicians from the staff.

He said two were dismissed when a fulltime medical resident was obtained, and two others performing special services were released because it was felt their work could better be performed by one person.

A fifth physician was fired for unsatisfactory performance, Dr. Toppen said.

The hospital has been under heavy criticism recently by State Rep. Harry H. McIlwain, who has charged that patients have been mistreated. McIlwain seeks the Democratic nomination for governor.

Dr. Toppen said that more attendants would help cut down on the number of incidents reported at the hospital. He referred to a case last week in which a patient was given a scalding bath by another patient while the lone attendant for 70 men was out of the ward. The patient died Monday.

Getting qualified attendants, particularly men, is "almost impossible," Dr. Toppen said.

He said pay for beginners is $240 a month, compared to the $82.50 a week being paid locally to common laborers.

He said there are presently about 20 nurses on the staff to take care of the approximately 2,800 fulltime patients.

The 17 other employees who quit in the last month was not unusual, noting that "normal turnover" is about 20 employees a month, Dr. Toppen said.

Local Musicians Place in Contest

Five students from the McFerren Music Studio, 386 Eva Drive, participated in the Regional Contest of the American Guild of Music last weekend in Cincinnati.

They were Linda Gallion, Danny Garrett, Johnny Johnson, Bill McFerren and John McFerren.

They received four excellent, five superior and one outstanding rating and two third place trophies. Those who received the trophy awards were Linda Gallion for a vocal solo and Johnny Johnson for a guitar solo.

Accompanying the young musicians to the contests were Mr. and Mrs. Leighton McFerren and son, Bobby, Mrs. Mike Dearth, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Wilson Martin and children and Miss Florence Brown, Ashville.

Before World War II Indonesia had 42,000 acres planted in cinchona trees. These produced 85 to 90 per cent of the world's supply of quinine. The groves were neglected during the Japanese occupation and Indonesia's struggle for independence. By 1950 only 16,000 acres were productive.

California Political Pot Boils Briskly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The promise of a bitter fight for the party's governorship nomination punctured Democratic plans for a peaceful primary today and cheered Republicans seeking political control of the nation's most populous state.

Democrat Gov. Edmund G. Brown, seeking a third term, replied angrily to the challenge of Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, who said Wednesday he will try to take the nomination away from Brown.

"I think he's in the wrong party's primary, but I accept the challenge," Brown told 2,500 Democrats Wednesday night at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner in San Francisco.

Yorty, a maverick Democrat who supported Republican Richard M. Nixon for president in 1960, accused Brown's 7-year-old administration of "shoddy machine politics."

"This is one more indication of the division in Democratic ranks which has become very obvious in the past few weeks," said former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, one of three candidates for the GOP nomination.

His major foe, actor Ronald Reagan, said Yorty's candidacy offers Democrats an alternative to Brown. He added it "might bring out once and for all the answer as to whether the incumbent really intends to be governor of California if he is elected."

6th District

Annual questionnaires to residents of the Ohio Sixth Congressional District will be mailed this week by Congressman William H. Harsha.

"This year's questionnaire uses a new method of opinion polling in that each participant punches a tab from a pre-punched card to indicate his answer," Harsha said. The returned card is then ready for immediate electronic tabulation.

Harsha expressed hope his constituents would be responsive to this new type of questionnaire which he developed after considerable study and is using for the second consecutive year.

The Ohio solon inaugurated his card approach last year. It is now being used by many Members of Congress from all over the United States.

"It is of utmost importance that the questionnaire be punched out and returned un-mutilated," the congressman said, "so the electronic computer machine can process the cards." He said this procedure will enable him to learn results in a much shorter time.

The question on President Johnson's Viet Nam policy is being repeated this year to determine if there is any change of feeling in the 6th District as the result of the escalation of the war.

ting too crowded, they moved on to the wide open spaces.

These days, the Daniel Boones are few and far between. There's a rush to the cities that is appalling, frightful.

The World Health Organization says: Over the last 100 years, mankind has doubled its numbers. But the world's city population has increased five-fold. Of the 3 billion people now living in this world, 1 billion live in cities. All this despite the well-known fight to hte suburbs of those who can afford it.

The spectacular city growth alarms the WHO. It says: "Overcrowding, evil housing conditions, the spread of slums, the dwindling of parkland and open spaces, traffic paralysis, the accident toll, water pollution, time wasted on journeys between home and work — all these drawbacks and more hamper the New Yorker as much as the man from Calcutta."

The Greek philosopher Plato held that the ideal urban community should not be larger than 5,000.

Today, Plato would be saddened to read these population figures, from the 1966 World Almanac: Tokyo 10,686,660, New York 8,085,000, London 7,978,234, Shanghai 7,100,000, Moscow 6,335,000, Bombay, 4,152,056, Peking 4,140,000, Sao Paulo 3,850,000, Buenos Aires 3,799,200 and Hong Kong 3,692,000.

The WHO cited figures on the overcrowding in calling attention to World Health Day to be observed April 7.

It said: Paris leads in overcrowding, with 82,880 city dwellers per square mile, followed by Tokyo with 41,440, New York with 34,188, London with 26,687 and Berlin with 9,065.

Dr. M. G. Candau, director general of WHO, says that as much as one-third of today's city population is unhealthily crowded together in terrible slums.

In a World Health Day message, he said: "Many a person coming to the city from the country has to learn to put up with less space, less daylight, less fresh air, less greenery, more noise, but le liberty to make noise."

"Psychosomatic and neurotic disorders are undoubtedly largely associated with the congestion and noise, the hectic rhythm of city life, its vast anonymity and it many strident appeals to the individuals to do this or that."

"Furthermore, as a counterpart to the glamour of the modern city, to its employment possibilities, its educational wealth and its cultural achievements, we have delinquency, crime, prostitution, alcoholism and the excessive use of drugs."

Maybe old Daniel Boone and ancient Plato were right.

Pilot Tells Of Experience
During WWII

"I wouldn't take a million dollars for the experience," David E. McDonald told members of Circleville Flying Assn. last night.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the group of local flying enthusiasts, the local tire dealer detailed his career as the pilot of a single engine warplane during World War II.

Highlights of McDonald's reminiscing included: He logged about 1,200 hours of flight time, had only three reportable accidents, encountered (briefly) enemy warplanes but once, trusted single engine planes more than multi-engine craft and is convinced that flying is the safest form of travel.

McDonald traced his wartime flying career from initial training in California through various stages in Mississippi and Florida to eventual journeyman duty in England and France.

BOB MILLER, secretary-treasurer of the association, was chairman of the meeting in the absence of other officers.

The next meeting of the association is scheduled for April 13.

Reform School Experiment Proves
Boys Want To Achieve 'Success'

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a drab, institutional building at the crest of a steep hill commanding the capital city, young delinquents are playing guinea pig for a novel experiment in the psychology of success.

Unlike most reform school inmates, these fellows are free to lay in bed all day, shoot pool (if they have the money) or goof off at will.

But they don't. The psychologists have taken Jefferson Hall at the National Training School for Boys and transformed it into a microcosm of the outside world — where achievement pays off.

For nearly every act of their waking day, the 18 boys — mostly young car thieves — in this federal institution are given points. For each point, they are paid a penny.

Unlike the 200 or so other lads at the reform school, they pay for their rooms, which are private. They pay for their food, their toiletries, their recreation, their books, their decorations, their clothing.

And with staff members of the Institute for Behavioral Research watching carefully, the boys are studying hard, working in their spare time, shooting for "success."

The experiment is being governed by a simple psychological premise that rewards stimulate achievement and success.

Financed by grants from the Departments of Justice and Health, Education and Welfare, the experiment was launched in the hopes it would develop a curriculum that might be applied to other penal institutions. "In a sense, Jefferson Hall is a greenhouse," said Harold L. Cohen, director of the experiment. "The training school boys creasing sales, as well as a tour of the factory, was also part of the curriculum.

comes from an environment in which the choices of activity were limited and the motivation very low. As a result, many chose the only path open to them — antisocial behavior.

"Here we are trying to design an environment in which the student is motivated by the prospect of an immediate reward, and where he has several choices of activity open to him."

The hitch on the outside, Cohen said, is that rewards — such as a diploma or a promotion — often seem vague and distant.

"RECOGNITION" — This new keyholder holding a postage stamp bearing Adolf Hitler's likeness is being used as a sign of recognition by the 500 or so members of the French Nazi Party. (Cablephoto)

But points for learning and achievement are awarded immediately at Jefferson Hall, and the weekly paycheck buys many of the same things as the paycheck of a worker on the outside. Eventually, Cohen said, the checks will be gradually delayed to condition the youths to the delays that accompany rewards on the outside.

While a boy may choose to goof off all day, he knows his private room costs $6 a week, or 600 points, as does his basic menu. He knows that if his points fall below 1,200, he will go "on relief" — losing his private room, eating institutional food, wearing institutional clothing, and enjoying no extras.

So he studies and works. None has yet gone on relief. Several have shown dramatic scholastic improvement, for which they are tested frequently and paid in points.

Starting at a base pay of $10 to $15 a week — payable only on achievement of 90 per cent in examinations and a minimum number of hours of work — the youth shoots for even higher grades and more work.

The boys, who are selected at random, are governed by none of the controls imposed on other inmates.

"These young people are not just after points or money," Cohen insisted, "they are hungry for a chance to be right instead of wrong — to be successful."

Cage Season Ends for County Fans As Freddies Edge Mustangs, 66-65

By STEVE JONES

The basketball season ended for Pickaway County cage fans Wednesday night when Westfall's Mustangs blew a 10-point lead and lost to Fredericktown, 66-65, in the Central District Class A tournament at Columbus.

The Freddies' Jim Lester scored the winning basket, a soft jump shot from about 10 feet. Only seven seconds remained when he turned the trick.

It was the first time Fredericktown held the lead since the first six minutes of the opening quarter.

The game ended in a thrilling, wild and woolly final quarter that saw the Freddies throw caution to the winds as they pressed furiously to gain possession of the ball.

WESTFALL held a 19-13 lead at the end of the first quarter. By halftime the Mustangs were out front, 33-26.

Neil Coleman tallied 18 points in the first half to keep Westfall ahead.

In the third quarter, Westfall held a 13-point lead on two different occasions. As the final period began, they were sitting on what appeared to be a comfortable 10-point cushion, 49-39.

But the Freddies were not to be counted out. Coming out in a full-court press at the beginning of the final period, the Freddies forced the Mustangs into 11 turnovers during the eight minute span.

Six straight points by the Freddies narrowed the score to 50-45 within the first two minutes of the last frame.

Tom Beard connected on a pair of charity tosses and Brad Thompson made a third to boost the Westfall lead to eight.

But once again the Freddies reeled off six consecutive points and the score stood at 53-51 with five minutes to go.

TOM BEARD added another free throw for Westfall with 4:51 showing on the clock and then Jim Lester notched a field goal for the Freddies to make the score, 54-63.

Tom Hamman was twice fouled in a nine second span immediately after that, and with the one and one rule in effect, scored four points at the charity stripe to make the score, 58-53.

Fredericktown retaliated with four points on two charity tosses and a field goal by Lester to narrow the margin separating the teams to one point.

HAMMAN then scored his fifth straight point at the free throw line and Tom Beard sank a field goal to put the Mustangs out front by four, with 2:20 to go.

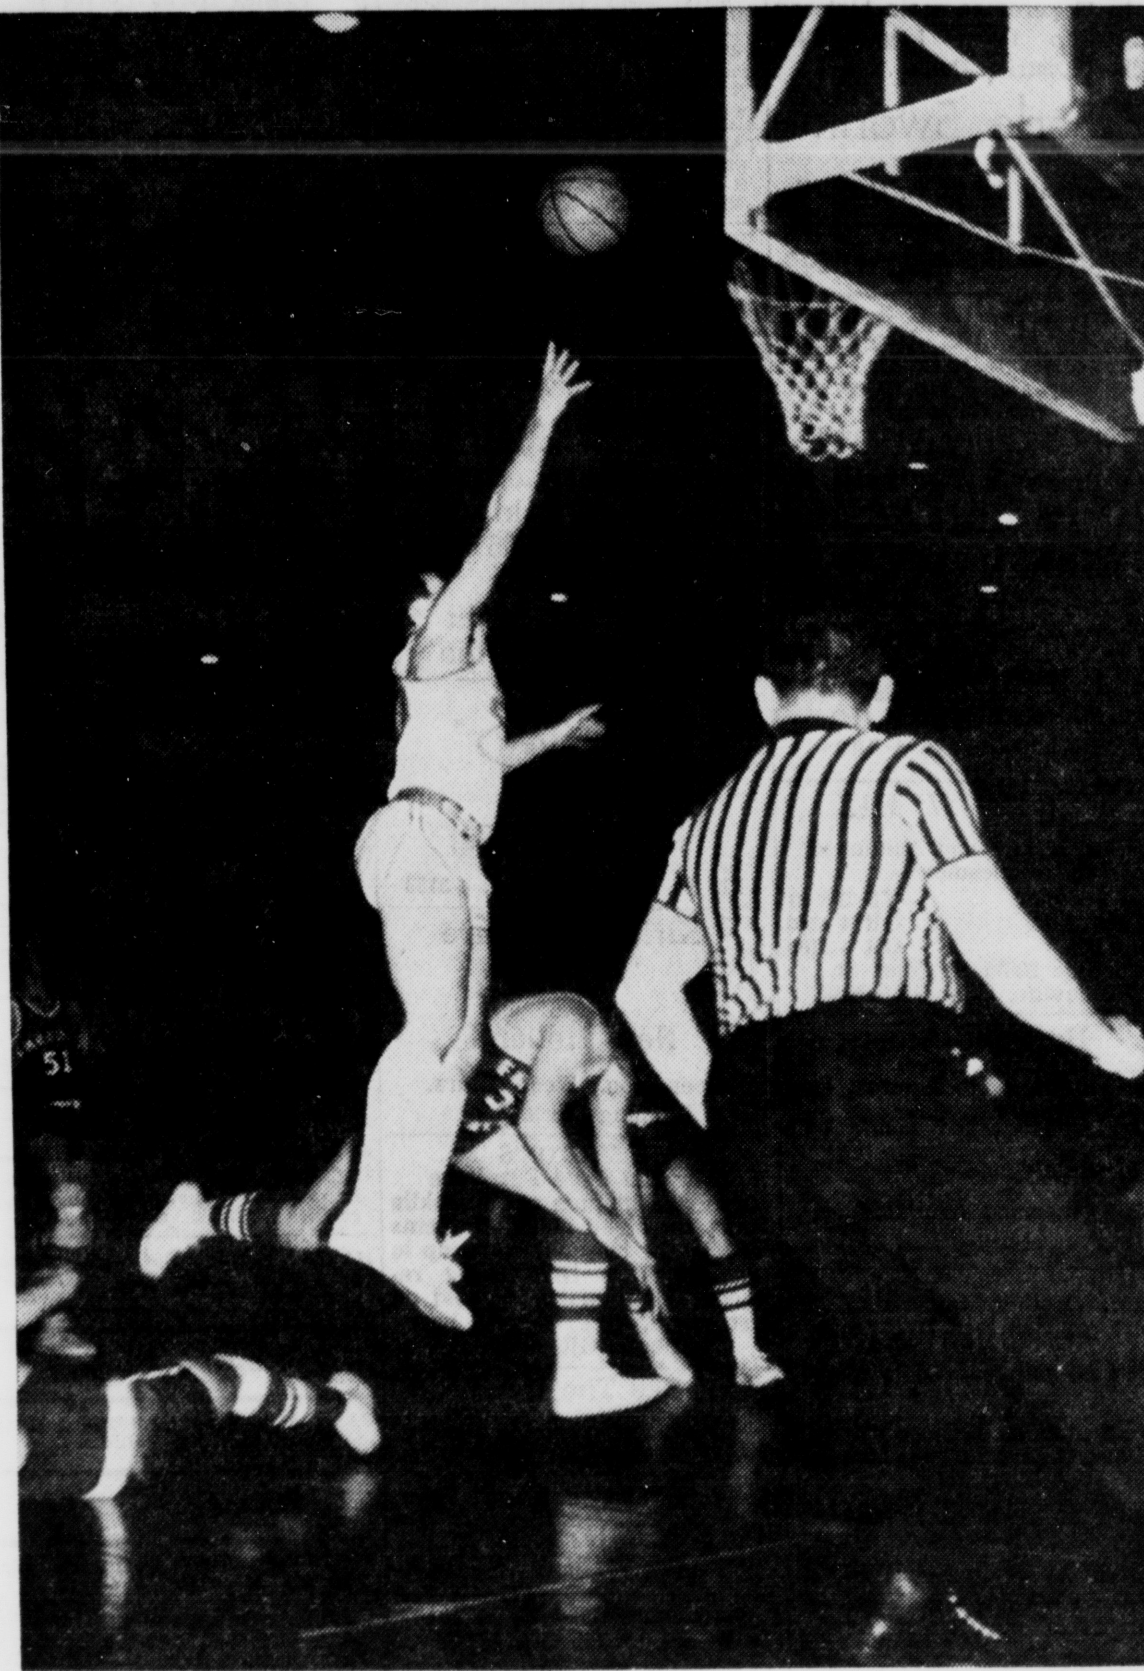

Ron Cochran scored for the Freddies, and Brad Thompson was fouled, hitting twice at the free throw line as the Mustangs held on to the four-point edge as the last two minutes started to tick away.

Westfall then went six points ahead with 1:14 showing when

Schroeder To Captain OU's Next Cage Team

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — John Schroeder will captain Ohio University's 1966-67 basketball team it was announced at Wednesday night's annual banquet.

Ken Fowlkes, junior forward who made the All-Mid-American Conference first team, was picked by his teammates as the season's most valuable Bobcat player.

HAMMAN SCORES — Tom Hamman notches two points on a fast break as Fredericktown players scramble wildly in an attempt to break up the scoring play. Watching the action is veteran tournament official Virgil Emswiler.

Thompson grabbed the ball from a Fredericktown player and fired a perfectly timed pass to Hamman under the bucket. But it was the last point for Westfall.

Fredericktown scored seven points in the last minute, including Lester's winning field goal.

Beard managed to get off a last shot for Westfall, but it was wide of its mark and the buzzer sounded before either team could gain possession of the ball.

The difference came at the foul line. Both teams scored 48 points from the field.

McDowell, Siebert Seen As Top Tribe Hurlers

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Indians' Manager Birdie Tebbetts says Sam McDowell and Sonny Siebert will carry the load for the Tribe's pitching staff this season.

"Right now I figure on McDowell and Siebert working every fourth day, especially during the first month of the season," Tebbetts said Wednesday. "There are open days and often cancellations because of bad weather."

"These two men will take their regular turn, regardless. They'll carry the load."

connected on 18 of 26 foul shots while Westfall hit 17 of 25. The Mustangs were charged with 17 personals and the Freddies with 18.

Neil Coleman's 22 points paced the Mustangs, while Tom Hamman came up with a 19-point effort. Tom Beard scored 12 and Ray Mowery, Brad Thompson and Tom Scribner had four each.

For the winners, Lester, Ben Shaffer, Tom Swihart had 12 each. Ron Carter and Dave James notched nine apiece.

The Mustangs closed out the season with a 17-4 record. For Fredericktown, it was the 14th win compared to seven losses.

Milwaukee Stadium Ready; Team Needed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee County Stadium, home of the Braves for the past 13 seasons, will be ready for major league baseball April 12, Braves or no Braves.

"All we need are the teams," said Bill Anderson, stadium manager, Wednesday.

Underdog Cage Teams Given Pats on Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virginia Tech and Western Kentucky, underdogs in college basketball's major postseason tournaments, the NIT and the NCAA, got pats on the back today.

Virginia Tech opposes the favored Temple Owls in the opening game of the NIT at New York's Madison Square Garden tonight. Western Kentucky is pitted against Michigan in the first round of the NCAA Midwest regional at Iowa City, Iowa, Friday night.

"We don't think anything Temple will do will surprise us," said Howie Shannon, Virginia Tech coach. The Gobblers haven't played since Feb. 13 when they ended their regular season at 19-4, but Shannon said his boys have "looked awfully sharp in practice."

"We seem more eager now than we have all season," Shannon concluded in giving his team a vote of confidence against the Owls, 20-6.

The Western Kentucky Hilltoppers, 24-2, got their pat on the back from George Ireland coach of the Chicago Loyola Ramblers, who were upset by the Hilltoppers last Monday.

"If they have a good night they'll beat Michigan," Ireland said. "And, if they get by Michigan, they can beat Kentucky."

He referred to the nationally top-ranked Kentucky Wildcats, who play Dayton in Friday's first game at Iowa City.

NCAA regional doubleheaders also will be held Friday at Raleigh, N.C., Lubbock, Tex., and Los Angeles.

De Paul and NYU clash in tonight's second game of the NIT doubleheader in New York.

The small-college tournaments, the NCAA and NAIA, got down to the semifinals and quarter-finals, respectively.

In the round of four of the NCAA small-college at Evansville, Ind., tonight Southern Illinois meets North Dakota and Akron takes on Kentucky Wesleyan. Southern Illinois beat Fresno State 93-70, Akron downed Long Island 74-68, North Dakota edged Abilene Christian 63-62 and Kentucky Wesleyan overcame Central Connecticut 84-76 Wednesday night.

In the NAIA quarter-finals at Kansas City tonight, Grambling meets Rockhurst, Oklahoma Baptist opposes Carson Newman, Norfolk State is pitted against Central State of Ohio and Georgia Southern goes against Illinois Wesleyan.

A 40 mph wind pushed a 7-iron shot 170-yards to a hole-in-one at the Hugoton Country Club — the first recorded ace since the club installed new grass greens last year. The golfer: Frank Swafford, president of the club.

Seniors seeing their last action for Westfall included Beard, Hamman, Mowery, Coleman, Thompson, Scribner, Willis Conley, Gary Liff and Delbert Haney.

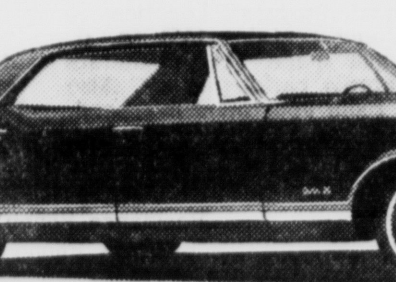

The only two juniors on the squad are Jim Minor and Charles Long. Also dressing with the varsity were a pair of sophomores, Charles Palmer and Andy Hamman.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren Harding and Bridgeport rolled along with district tournament victories Wednesday night, maintaining the high survival rate of AP-ranked squads in Ohio's high school basketball eliminations.

Warren, ranked No. 4 in Class AA, waylaid Youngstown East 62-43 while Bridgeport, No. 4 in Class A, bounced Strasburg 68-42.

There now are 102 survivors, little more than 10 per cent of the schools which opened sectional competition last month—but still alive are nine of the Associated Press Top Ten in each division. Chillicothe Flaget No. 8, became the initial Class A casualty Wednesday night when Whiteoak won 57-56.

Hurricane Is Irked by Bout Decision

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A near-hurricane blew out of Rubin (Hurricane) Carter's camp after it was announced but the official decision in this Tuesday night fight with Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure will be a draw, not a majority decision for Carter as was announced from the ring.

The Toledo Boxing Commission nullified the decision for Carter after a chance check of the score cards Wednesday morning turned up an error in addition on the referee's card.

Referee John Ousky's decision had been announced from the ring as 45-44 for Carter, of Paterson, N. J., but it was later determined he had scored the ninth round for McClure but gave him four instead of five points for it.

Judge Joseph Justo also had the bout a draw 45-45 while judge Jack Myers scored it 46-45 for Carter.

Carter's manager Pat Amato protested to Abe Greene, also of Paterson, national commissioner of the World Boxing Association, but Greene ruled that he has no authority to overrule a local commission in a "case of error in addition or typography."

He said it apparently was an honest error, with no collusion or dishonesty involved.

Bridgeport moved into the district finals with a 22-0 record while Proctorville Fairland, the ninth-ranked, matched that mark with a 64-44 romp over McArthur Wednesday night. And six other Class A squads still carry unsullied season records — Rosford, Rittman, Sandusky St. Mary, Carey, Archbold and Batavia — although Springboro (20-1) won No. 1 ranking.

Rittman plays Keystone tonight, hoping to join Bridgeport and Fairland in needing just one more triumph to make the regionals. Dayton Chaminade, No. 3; Warren, and Columbus Linden, No. 9, have attained that status in Class AA.

Zanesville Rosecrans was stubborn Wednesday night about bowing out of the Class A race, but River Local finally ousted the Muskingum County crew 62-60 in for overtimes.

Cincinnati Opens Play In Exhibitions

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds opened their 32-game exhibition schedule today, and Manager Don Heffner outlined a few things he wants to accomplish. Among them are:

—Select the best pitchers to fill a couple of openings on the staff.

—Find out if the club's top newcomer, rookie outfielder Dick Simpson, can hit major league pitching.

—See if Deron Johnson can make the switch from third base to left field.

—See if veteran pitcher Jim O'Toole can begin his winning form following a dismal season in 1965.

The Reds open the grapefruit league here against the Kansas City Athletics with O'Toole, Jack Baldschun and Sammy Ellis slated to do the pitching.

"Our big job," Heffner said, "will be to get our starting pitcher and relief men ready."

"O'Toole will be given plenty of work to see if we can't get him off to a good start," he added.

Cage Season Ends for County Fans As Freddie's Edge Mustangs, 66-65

By STEVE JONES

The basketball season ended for Pickaway County cage fans Wednesday night when Westfall's Mustang blew a 10-point lead and lost to Fredericktown, 66-65, in the Central District Class A tournament at Columbus.

The Freddie's Jim Lester scored the winning basket, a soft jump shot from about 10 feet. Only seven seconds remained when he turned the trick.

It was the first time Fredericktown held the lead since the first six minutes of the opening quarter.

The game ended in a thrilling, wild and woolly final quarter that saw the Freddie's throw caution to the winds as they pressed furiously to gain possession of the ball.

WESTFALL held a 19-13 lead at the end of the first quarter. By halftime the Mustangs were out front, 33-26.

Neil Coleman tallied 18 points in the first half to keep Westfall ahead.

In the third quarter, Westfall held a 13-point lead on two different occasions. As the final period began, they were sitting on what appeared to be a comfortable 10-point cushion, 49-39.

But the Freddie's were not to be counted out. Coming out in a full-court press at the beginning of the final period, the Freddie's forced the Mustangs into 11 turnovers during the eight minute span.

Six straight points by the Freddie's narrowed the score to 50-45 within the first two minutes of the last frame.

Tom Beard connected on a pair of charity tosses and Brad Thompson made a third to boost the Westfall lead to eight.

But once again the Freddie's reeled off six consecutive points and the score stood at 53-51 with five minutes to go.

TOM BEARD added another free throw for Westfall with 4:51 showing on the clock and then Jim Lester notched a field goal for the Freddie's to make the score, 54-63.

Tom Hamman was twice fouled in a nine second span immediately after that, and with the one and one rule in effect, scored four points at the charity stripe to make the score, 58-53.

Fredericktown retaliated with four points on two charity tosses and a field goal by Lester to narrow the margin separating the teams to one point.

HAMMAN then scored his fifth straight point at the free throw line and Tom Beard sank a field goal to put the Mustangs out front by four, with 2:29 to go.

Ron Cochran scored for the Freddie's, and Brad Thompson was fouled, hitting twice at the free throw line as the Mustangs held on to the four-point edge as the last two minutes started to tick away.

Westfall then went six points ahead with 1:14 showing when

Schroeder To Captain OU's Next Cage Team

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — John Schroeder will captain Ohio University's 1966-67 basketball team it was announced at Wednesday night's annual banquet.

Ken Fowlkes, junior forward who made the All-Mid-American Conference first team, was picked by his teammates as the season's most valuable Bobcat player.

HAMMAN SCORES — Tom Hamman notches two points on a fast break as Fredericktown players scramble wildly in an attempt to break up the scoring play. Watching the action is veteran tournament official Virgil Emswiler.

Thompson grabbed the ball from a Fredericktown player and fired a perfectly timed pass to Hamman under the bucket. But it was the last point for Westfall.

Fredericktown scored seven points in the last minute, including Lester's winning field goal.

Beard managed to get off a last shot for Westfall, but it was wide of its mark and the buzzer sounded before either team could gain possession of the ball.

The difference came at the foul line. Both teams scored 48 points from the field.

HOWEVER, Fredericktown

connected on 18 of 26 foul shots while Westfall hit 17 of 25. The Mustangs were charged with 17 personals and the Freddie's with 18.

Neil Coleman's 22 points paced the Mustangs, while Tom Hamman came up with a 19-point effort. Tom Beard scored 12 and Ray Mowery, Brad Thompson and Tom Scribner had four each.

For the winners, Lester, Ben Shaffer, Tom Swihart had 12 each. Ron Carter and Dave James notched nine apiece.

The Mustangs closed out the season with a 17-4 record. For Fredericktown, it was the 14th win compared to seven losses.

Milwaukee Stadium Ready; Team Needed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee County Stadium, home of the Braves for the past 13 seasons, will be ready for major league baseball April 12, Braves or no Braves.

"All we need are the teams," said Bill Anderson, stadium manager, Wednesday.

The Braves abandoned Milwaukee for Atlanta after last season.

Underdog Cage Teams Given Pats on Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virginia Tech and Western Kentucky, underdogs in college basketball's major postseason tournaments, the NIT and the NCAA, got pats on the back today.

Virginia Tech opposes the favored Temple Owls in the opening game of the NIT at New York's Madison Square Garden tonight. Western Kentucky is pitted against Michigan in the first round of the NCAA Midwest regional at Iowa City, Iowa, Friday night.

"We don't think anything Temple will do will surprise us," said Howie Shannon, Virginia Tech coach. The Gobblers haven't played since Feb. 19 when they ended their regular season at 19-4, but Shannon said his boys have "looked awfully sharp in practice."

"We seem more eager now than we have all season," Shannon concluded in giving his team a vote of confidence against the Owls, 20-6.

The Western Kentucky Hilltoppers, 24-2, got their pat on the back from George Ireland coach of the Chicago Loyola Ramblers, who were upset by the Hilltoppers last Monday.

"If they have a good night they'll beat Michigan," Ireland said. "And, if they get by Michigan, they can beat Kentucky."

He referred to the nationally top-ranked Kentucky Wildcats, who play Dayton in Friday's first game at Iowa City.

NCAA regional doubleheaders also will be held Friday at Raleigh, N.C., Lubbock, Tex., and Los Angeles.

De Paul and NYU clash in tonight's second game of the NIT doubleheader in New York.

The small-college tournaments, the NCAA and NAIA, got down to the semifinals and quarter-finals, respectively.

In the round of four of the NCAA small-college at Evansville, Ind., tonight Southern Illinois meets North Dakota and Akron takes on Kentucky Wesleyan. Southern Illinois beat Fresno State 93-70, Akron downed Long Island 74-68, North Dakota edged Abilene Christian 63-62 and Kentucky Wesleyan overcame Central Connecticut 84-76 Wednesday night.

In the NAIA quarter-finals at Kansas City tonight, Grambling meets Rockhurst, Oklahoma Baptist opposes Carson Newman, Norfolk State is pitted against Central State of Ohio and Georgia Southern goes against Illinois Wesleyan.

A 40 mph wind pushed a 7-iron shot 170-yards to a hole-in-one at the Hugoton Country Club — the first recorded ace since the club installed new grass greens last year. The golfer: Frank Swafford, president of the club.

A are still on the tourney trail in a field of 49.

Ten games tonight will reduce the total field to 92 for further diminution to the 32 regional qualifiers by Saturday night.

In one of tonight's features, No. 1 ranked Canton McKinley (19-1) engages dangerous rival Canton South (18-3) in Class AA. The winner has a weekend date with Canton Lincoln, which knocked off Medina 66-59 Wednesday night, leaving Lima Shawnee, the only unbeaten Class AA squad in the state. Medina had been 21-0.

Another AA highlight tonight will be Columbus district semifinals involving three past state champions. Defending titlist Columbus South (12-7) plays Columbus DeSales and former kings Columbus East and Newark tangle.

Bridgeport moved into the district finals with a 22-0 record while Proctorville Fairland, the ninth-ranked, matched that mark with a 64-44 romp over McArthur Wednesday night. Terrell Shuns Terms of Clay Bout

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A dramatic midnight announcement by Ernie Terrell in a police station has once again put the Terrell-Cassius Clay world heavyweight championship fight in the doubtful category. Will it or will it not be held in Toronto March 29?

"As of now the fight is off," Terrell said in rejecting the terms of the new contract sent him by the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto where the fight apparently had found a home. It had been turned down in New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Montreal, the state of Vermont and Verdun, Quebec.

Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion, balked at the provisions in the contract which he said would make him controlled by the Maple Leaf Gardens and commit him to a return bout with George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion, in June.

"If they would send a contract with me just fighting Clay and no other clauses, then I would fight Clay tonight and for thirty cents," Terrell said in the city room of the Atlantic City Press where he dictated a statement late Wednesday night.

He made his "the fight is off," statement later from the police station in nearby Ventnor, N.J., where he had gone to avoid telephone calls.

"This new contract makes it impossible for me to go through with the fight on these terms," Terrell said. "In the original agreement I had a guarantee of $50,000 from the live gate and $100,000 from the ancillary rights on closed-circuit television, and $12,500 was to be paid for training expenses."

"In this new contract there is no guarantee and I haven't received any expenses. And Maple Leaf Gardens wants me to have to fight George Chuvalo sign a contract where I would two months later for the Gardens in Toronto with the ancillary or closed-circuit promoters."

Terrell outpointed Chuvalo in a 15-rounder Nov. 1 in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. "Why should I fight him again?" asked Terrell, adding, "I'm not against fighting Chuvalo, but I want it on my terms."

Harold Ballard, executive vice president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said in Toronto that there would be no fight unless the winner agrees to meet Chuvalo.

"I'm not signing anything until Clay and Terrell agree to the terms, including a defense against Chuvalo in June," Ballard said. "If they don't agree, there's no fight here March 29."

Tough. That's just too bad," Terrell commented.

"I didn't give the power of attorney to anyone," he added

when told of Ballard's comment that Robert Arum, an officer of Main Bout, Inc., of New York, which owns the ancillary rights, had power of attorney to sign a contract for both Clay and Terrell "and he has signed the contract."

In New York, a spokesman for Main Bout said, "We knew Terrell was dissatisfied, but as far as we know this matter was supposed to have been straightened out."

Meantime, Terrell said, he will continue to train at nearby Pleasantville, N.J.

There was no immediate comment from Clay. The champion was on his way from Miami to New York.

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks are now in the midst of setting up schedules for next fall. Already the publicists are beating their drums to excite us about all the delights in store — six months ahead.

Very little, by comparison, is being said about what has come to be known as "the summer rerun season," which starts sometime next month.

Under normal circumstances, television is very sensitive about utterances of members of the Federal Communications Commission, which controls the licensing of broadcasting.

It was last Sept. 24 when FCC Chairman E. William Henry, addressing the International Radio and Television Society, asked:

"I wonder how many regular television viewers are satisfied with their summer diet? How many are content with the steady stream of network repeats, reruns, and rejects? How many enjoy rehashing yesterday's cud? How many have developed tired television blood without realizing that it is simply a long, long time from May to September?"

Then he suggested that "the networks' summer siesta should become a summer workshop — seeking new sources, new directions, new concepts, new for mats, new faces," and dedicated to program development and experimentation.

Maybe the networks were not listening attentively. Anyway, this summer's sleepy time look pretty much like any other. Out of close to 100 evening programs, all but 11 will be repeating shows.

CBS' "What's My Line?" on Sundays will, as usual, stay with new show all through the arm weather. On Monday night, singer John Davidson will star in a variety show to replace Andy Williams on NBC; Art Linkletter's "Hollywood Talent Scouts" will continue with new material, and ABC's "Avenegers," — a British import that does not replace "Ben Casey" until the end of this month — will have fresh stories.

Red Skelton on CBS Tuesdays will have a substitute in "Hippodrome," a collection of circus acts, John Gary, the singer who has become almost a regular on "The Danny Kaye Show" will take over that CBS hour for the season on Wednesdays.

The comedy team of Rowan and Martin have the hour show of Dean Martin (no relation) on NBC Thursdays, and "Mona McCluskey" will be replaced by a half-hour musical show called "Mickie Finn's." "The Baron," another new British import on ABC, will have story lines not previously seen by American audiences.

There will be "Court-Martial," still another British-made series on ABC Fridays, replacing Jimmy Dean's hour. And on Saturday, a variety hour will be cooked up so that Jackie Gleason can have the summer off.

Lucille Ball, who usually is replaced by a collection of unsold comedy pilots, will be on reruns from late March to the end of June, and then be spelled by repeats of "Fair Exchange," a short-lived series of another year. Ed Sullivan will drop a few new shows amid a cluster of repeats.

And for the rest — once again, it will be the same tired summer story. Maybe Henry should have saved his breath.

But a novel idea by the University of Oklahoma Medical Center will soon bring reinforcements to the overworked doctor as well as determine whether such projects are feasible in other areas of similar needs.

"If our plan works, all of the medical have-not areas will eventually be helped," Dr. James L. Dennis, dean and director of the medical center, says.

"Project Responsibility," as it is called, is designed to supply the immediate medical needs of doctor-short rural areas, train health workers and provide postgraduate teaching in family medicine at a combination clinic-hospital.

The pilot facility will be established in the town of Wakita — population 450 — in north-central Oklahoma's wheat country.

Wakita hasn't had a medical doctor for two years. Dr. Franklin P. Robinson of Pond Creek, 20 miles to the south, is the lone physician in the county.

Dennis said the pilot center will be staffed by a general practitioner, a pediatrician and an internist. Each will have a medical school teaching appointment. There also will be nurses and a professional social worker. The hospital will have nine beds for emergency cases.

Eventually, Dennis said, physicians operating the facility may buy the clinic-hospital, which is supposed to be activated within the year.

In the plans are a heliport for speedy transport of acutely ill patients to larger medical centers and to expedite visits by consulting physicians.

Wakita civic leaders agreed to accept $200,000 to erect the center. Doctors, who will receive a guaranteed salary, will charge standard fees.

Medic-Pilot Belly-Lands His Airplane

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An Indiana physician crash-landed his airplane at the Hamilton Airport Wednesday—after circling for more than three hours to burn up a tankful of fuel.

The pilot, Dr. Lewis Jolly, about 44, and his only passenger, Miss Rosamond Burton, 28, both of Madison, Ind., were not hurt. Dr. Jolly "knew what he was doing and really did a good job, just like a professional," said airport manager Bill Hogan.

The Piper Comanche plane struck a small auto parked at the eastern end of the runway as Dr. Jolly first attempted a landing. A wheel was ripped off the plane, preventing a safe landing.

A man in the car, James Kirby, 43, Hamilton, suffered shock and a cut wrist, but was released after treatment at Mercy Hospital. The auto was nearly demolished.

Dr. Jolly circled the airport in order to burn up the fuel before making a "perfect" belly landing, Hogan said. There was no fire.

Miss Burton jumped from the plane on landing, and then collapsed. She and Dr. Jolly were taken to the hospital, but were released after being examined.

Neither would talk to newsmen about the incident.

The only noticeable damage to the plane was a bent propeller.

Durante, LBJ, Hawaiian Boy Open Seal Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson with assists from Jimmy Durante and a 4-year-old Hawaiian boy, launched the 1966 Easter Seal drive Wednesday.

Durante, national chairman of the fund drive for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, visited Johnson with Alan Nagao of Honolulu, the 1966 Easter Seal Child.

While Durante held the youngster, who has one artificial leg as a result of a birth defect, Johnson listened attentively as Alan sang "Old MacDonald Had a Farm."

The youngster presented the President with a sheet of Easter Seals.

The boy represents some 200,000 crippled children and adults who receive medical care from the Easter Seal Society.

The world's first cities were built about 5,500 years ago in Mesopotamia.

Dutch Princess Wed To German Diplomat

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix, the future queen of the Netherlands, married a handsome German diplomat today as 1,000 demonstrators tried to march on the royal palace. Club-swinging police beat them back.

The bridegroom, Claus Von Amsberg, 39, grew up under Hitler and as a youth served in the German army. The marriage made him a prince of the Netherlands, entitled him to an annual allowance of $83,000, and changed his name to the Dutch, Van Amsberg.

The demonstrators, most of them youths, shouted condemnations of the bridegroom and republican slogans but were about half a mile from the wedding procession through Amsterdam. The police dispersed the crowd as it started to march on the palace.

But thousands of Dutchmen, many waving flags, cheered the 28-year-old "smiling princess" and her bridegroom as the bridal procession moved through Amsterdam.

A simple civil ceremony in Amsterdam's City Hall preceded the glittering church wedding before a gathering of Europe's dwindling royalty.

The traditional marriage oath "to heed and obey" was omitted from the rites of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Beatrix's wedding gown was of white satin in fitted "princess line" style with long sleeves and high neckline. The train, starting from the waist, was 15 feet long and seven feet wide.

She wore a short veil and the tiara of pearls and diamonds her grandmother Queen Wilhelmina wore when she married a German, Prince Hendrik, in 1900.

Mayor Gijsbert Van Hal, in pronouncing Beatrix and her choice man and wife, touched on the tenseness of the day and those ahead.

Speaking directly to the new Dutch prince, he mentioned the "many hours which were certainly not easy for you" and said: "I am certain that, as more people meet you and our nation comes to know you better, their confidence in you and respect for you will grow."

The emphasis of the day was on youth, with three youthful reigning monarchs and their queens present. All were from countries occupied by Germany during World War II.

There were King Baudouin of Belgium and his Spanish-born Queen Fabiola, King Constantine of Greece and his Danish-born Queen Anne-Marie, and Baudouin's brother-in-law and sister, Grand Duke Jean and Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte of Luxembourg.

But a novel idea by the University of Oklahoma Medical Center will soon bring reinforcements to the overworked doctor as well as determine whether such projects are feasible in other areas of similar needs.

"If our plan works, all of the medical have-not areas will eventually be helped," Dr. James L. Dennis, dean and director of the medical center, says.

"Project Responsibility," as it is called, is designed to supply the immediate medical needs of doctor-short rural areas, train health workers and provide postgraduate teaching in family medicine at a combination clinic-hospital.

The pilot facility will be established in the town of Wakita — population 450 — in north-central Oklahoma's wheat country.

Wakita hasn't had a medical doctor for two years. Dr. Franklin P. Robinson of Pond Creek, 20 miles to the south, is the lone physician in the county.

Dennis said the pilot center will be staffed by a general practitioner, a pediatrician and an internist. Each will have a medical school teaching appointment. There also will be nurses and a professional social worker. The hospital will have nine beds for emergency cases.

Eventually, Dennis said, physicians operating the facility may buy the clinic-hospital, which is supposed to be activated within the year.

In the plans are a heliport for speedy transport of acutely ill patients to larger medical centers and to expedite visits by consulting physicians.

Wakita civic leaders agreed to raise about $200,000 to erect the center. Doctors, who will receive a guaranteed salary, will charge standard fees.

Medic-Pilot Belly-Lands His Airplane

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An Indiana physician crash-landed his airplane at the Hamilton Airport Wednesday—after circling for more than three hours to burn up a tankful of fuel.

The pilot, Dr. Lewis Jolly, about 44, and his only passenger, Miss Rosamond Burton, 28, both of Madison, Ind., were not hurt.

Dr. Jolly "knew what he was doing and really did a good job, just like a professional," said airport manager Bill Hogan.

The Piper Comanche plane struck a small auto parked at the eastern end of the runway as Dr. Jolly first attempted a landing. A wheel was ripped off the plane, preventing a safe landing.

A man in the car, James Kirby, 43, Hamilton, suffered shock and a cut wrist, but was released after treatment at Mercy Hospital. The auto was nearly demolished.

Dr. Jolly circled the airport in order to burn up the fuel be-

Durante, LBJ, Hawaiian Boy Open Seal Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson with assists from Jimmy Durante and a 4-year-old Hawaiian boy, launched the 1966 Easter Seal drive Wednesday.

Durante, national chairman of the fund drive for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, visited Johnson with Alan Nagao of Honolulu, the 1966 Easter Seal Child.

While Durante held the youngster, who has one artificial leg as a result of a birth defect, Johnson listened attentively as Alan sang "Old MacDonald Had a Farm."

The youngster presented the President with a sheet of Easter Seals.

The boy represents some 200,000 crippled children and adults who receive medical care from the Easter Seal Society.

fore making a "perfect" belly landing, Hogan said. There was no fire.

Miss Burton jumped from the plane on landing, and then collapsed. She and Dr. Jolly were taken to the hospital, but were released after being examined.

Neither would talk to newsmen about the incident.

The only noticeable damage to the plane was a bent propeller.

Dutch Princess Wed To German Diplomat

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix, the future queen of the Netherlands, married a handsome German diplomat today as 1,000 demonstrators tried to march on the royal palace. Club-swinging police beat them back.

The bridegroom, Claus Von Amsberg, 39, grew up under Hitler and as a youth served in the German army. The marriage made him a prince of the Netherlands, entitled him to an annual allowance of $83,000, and changed his name to the Dutch, Van Amsberg.

The demonstrators, most of them youths, shouted condemnations of the bridegroom and republican slogans but were about half a mile from the wedding procession through Amsterdam. The police dispersed the crowd as it started to march on the palace.

But thousands of Dutchmen,

many waving flags, cheered the 28-year-old "smiling princess" and her bridegroom as the bridal procession moved through Amsterdam.

A simple civil ceremony in Amsterdam's City Hall preceded the glittering church wedding before a gathering of Europe's dwindling royalty.

The traditional marriage oath "to heed and obey" was omitted from the rites of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Beatrix's wedding gown was of white satin in fitted "princess line" style with long sleeves and high neckline. The train, starting from the waist, was 15 feet long and seven feet wide.

She wore a short veil and the tiara of pearls and diamonds

her grandmother Queen Wilhelmina wore when she married a German, Prince Hendrik, in 1900.

Mayor Gijsbert Van Hal, in pronouncing Beatrix and her choice man and wife, touched on the tenseness of the day and those ahead.

Speaking directly to the new Dutch prince, he mentioned the "many hours which were certainly not easy for you" and said: "I am certain that, as more people meet you and our nation comes to know you better, their confidence in you and respect for you will grow."

The emphasis of the day was on youth, with three youthful reigning monarchs and their queens present. All were from countries occupied by Germany during World War II.

There were King Baudouin of Belgium and his Spanish-born Queen Fabiola, King Constantine of Greece and his Danish-born Queen Anne-Marie, and Baudouin's brother-in-law and sister, Grand Duke Jean and Grand Duchess Josephine Charlotte of Luxembourg.
